SUPREME COURT HAS AGAIN REFUSED SAVE CONDEMNED KIDNAPER

ONLY HOPE REMAINING IS REPRIEVE AT HANDS NEW JERSEY GOVERNOR

By JAMES W. DOUTHAT
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. (P)—The supreme court refused today to save Bruno Richard Hauptmann from the electric chair tomorrow night.

Apparently the only hope of the convicted kidnaper-murderer of the Lindbergh baby lies in a possible reprieve by Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey.

Hauptmann's petition for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of execution had been filed shortly after noon by his attorneys.

The decision to deny the petition was agreed upon while the justices ate their lunch from 2 to 2:30 p. m. Chief Justice Hughes announced the verdict to a hushed audience as soon as the court convened at 2:35 p. m.—three minutes late.

Apparently the discussion had extended to the point where the chief justice said merely that the petition for a writ of habeas corpus was denied. Court observers said that action in effect included the petition for a stay of execution.

The delay had been requested in order to permit the court to review the petition.

Only a moderate crowd was in the court room when the black-robed justices filed in. An attorney arguing a case before the court

INVESTIGATION OF CHICAGO PRISONER'S STORY IS UNDER WAY TELLS OF HAVING CONNECTION WITH TWO MEN WHO HAD LINDBERGH RANSOM

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(P)—A Chicago-Bridgeway prisoner's story that an "Adolph Elaustein" and a "Fred Menk" whom he met in 1934 claimed they had $22,000 of the Lindbergh baby ransom money was investigated today by representatives of Governor Hoffman, who indicated the questioning was asked by New Jersey officials.

Attorney Bernard Finnigan, representing the prisoner, Stephen Spitz, then announced he would communicate immediately with Governor Hoffman of New Jersey, asking him to have Governor Hoffman free Spitz to go to Trenton, N. J.

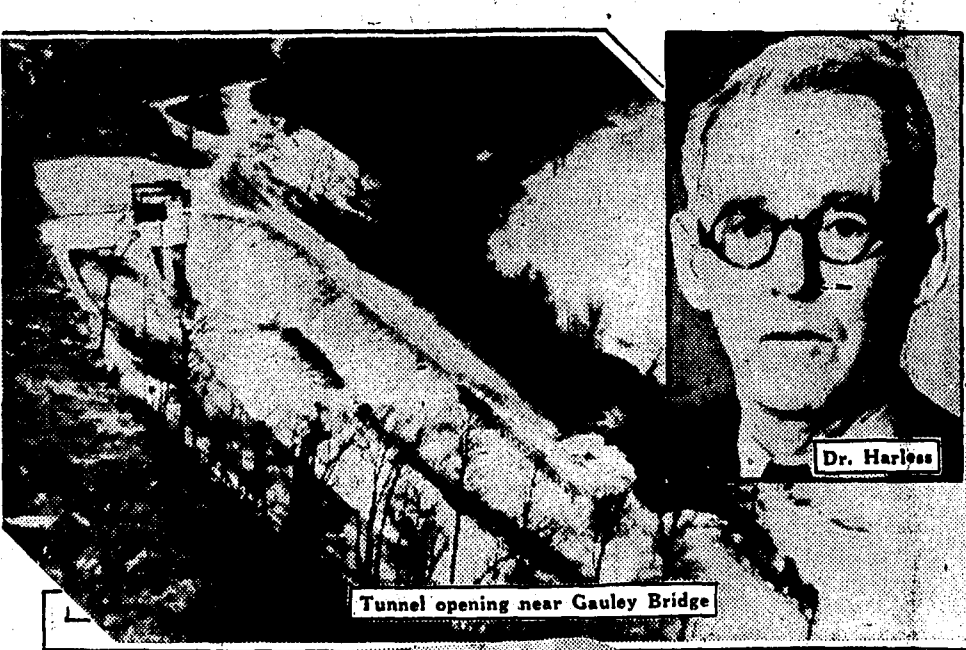

Spitz, 52 years old, was sentenced to obtaining money under false pretenses and his term expires at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

Questioned by T. P. Sullivan, state bureau of identification chief, John Landesco, state pardon and parole board member, and Assistant Attorney General Emory Smith, Spitz said that in August, 1934, he met "Elaustein" and "Menk" in a rooming house at 123rd and Lenox avenue, in New York.

He said he arranged to meet them the next day at the Robert Treat House, a Newark, N. J., hotel.

"I met them as planned," he said, "and they stated they had some 'hot money' they wanted to dispose of. We drove 50 miles through

DEMAND INVESTIGATION OF 200 TUNNEL DEATHS

Tunnel opening near Gauley Bridge

Tunnel workers

Prospects of a congressional inquiry into the mysterious deaths of more than 200 men working on a hydro-electric power project tunnel, top near Gauley Bridge, W. Va., loomed following demands of Congressman Marcantonio, N. Y., for an investigation. In case of investigation, Dr. L. R. Harlow, inset, would be one of the principal witnesses since it was his diagnosis which labeled the mysterious malady as silicosis, a form of lung disease caused by inhaling particles of quartz dust. Pictured below is a group of the tunnel workers, some of whom have died months after quitting their jobs since the disease gradually breaks down the resistance of the strongest man.

Breakdown in Big Power Plant Put Millions In Dark

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(P)—Electrical experts worked feverishly today to complete the repair of a mysterious power plant breakdown which in terrifying fashion plunged a million or more New Yorkers into darkness and crippled transportation facilities.

Officials estimated 60,000 persons were caught in the dark labyrinth of one subway system when the power shut off, at the height of last night's rush hour, brought the underground cars to a standstill.

All of Manhattan north of 59th street and most of the Bronx was affected. Lights in skyscrapers, homes and hospitals went off. Telephone service was shut down for a time.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia mobilized 18,000 policemen and 7,000 firemen for extra service.

Traffic on the street levels and on other subway lines was de-

PLEASANT INTERLUDE OCCURS IN FLETCHER'S ARGUMENT WITH NATION'S BROADCASTING CHAINS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(P)—A pleasant interlude in Henry P. Fletcher's argument with the broadcasting chains occurred today. Columbia broadcasting system sent an engineer around to the Republican national chairman's home to repair his radio set so he could pick up anti-new deal programs better.

And the engineer, of all people, was Clyde Hunt, who handles all of President Roosevelt's broadcasts.

A local Columbia official learned that Fletcher, chairman of the Republican national committee, could get nothing but dance tunes when he tried to listen to the anti-new deal sketch, "Liberty at the Crossroads" Tuesday night. The sketch was broadcast from an independent Chicago station after Columbia and national broadcasting companies had banned it.

"I understand," he said, "that you couldn't pick up Chicago with your set."

"No," replied Fletcher, "it couldn't."

"It must not be much of a

APPROPRIATION OF $300,000,000 PAY FARMERS FAVORED

BILL STARTED THROUGH CONGRESS WHEN APPROVED BY SENATE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. (P)—A $300,000,000 bill to pay contracting farmers under the AAA started through congress today as New Deal chieftains again assembled at the white house to discuss the agricultural problem.

A measure by Senator McNary, the republican leader, quickly was approved by the senate agriculture committee. It would authorize a $300,000,000 appropriation to meet financial obligations of the government under crop production contracts entered into prior to Jan. 6,—date of the AAA invalidation by the supreme court.

The committee also approved a $60,000,000 bill for seed and feed loans on 1936 crops. It was sponsored by Chairman Smith (D-SC), one of those called to President Roosevelt's office.

Cotton phases of the agricultural tangle were scheduled for emphasis at the white house meeting. Besides Smith those to attend included: Attorney General Cummings, Secretary Wallace, Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, Senator Bankhead (D-Ala); Chairman Jones (D-Texas) of the house agriculture committee and Chester Davis, AAA administrator.

The compulsory crop control act has been challenged in the courts. The supreme court has not ruled on its constitutionality but the AAA decision generally is believed by administration leaders to doom the Bankhead statute.

In advance of today's meeting, the white house said no plan on a substitute for the AAA, so far has reached the president from

PREDICTIONS FREELY HEARD THAT FARM LEADERS MEETING TO PLAN AAA SUBSTITUTE DEAD

By FRANK I. WELLER
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(P)—Flat predictions that the national agricultural conference would "blow up" were heard among men high in its councils today as the five major farm groups composing it met to discuss a substitute for AAA.

These organizations, which leaders say represent 3,000,000 American farmers, originally planned to meet here for unified action to offset the supreme court's invalidation of AAA. Their sessions was superseded by Secretary Wallace's conference of 100 invited agriculturalists who last week unanimously adopted principles for rewriting crop control on the basis of subsidized soil conservation.

Since then a majority of the senate agricultural committee, following the lead of Senator Norris (R-Neb.), have expressed fear that proposed reformation of AAA principles might fail in a constitutional test.

The National Grange immediately seized the opportunity to

ITALIAN BOMBING PLANES DESTROYED NEW RED CROSS UNIT

By ROY P. PORTER
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Three Italian bombing planes destroyed a Red Cross unit headed by a British officer at Waldia on the northern Ethiopian front, an official communique from Addis Ababa reported today.

Seven women and seven old men died in the aerial assault Tuesday morning, the government said, and 35 others were injured. Major Gerald Burgoyne, the hospital director, was reported unhurt.

Along the entire southern front more than 100,000 warriors rushed into fierce engagements in what was described at Rome as the "most important" battle of the Italo-Ethiopian war.

At Paris, radical socialists demanded resignations of party members holding cabinet positions, forecasting downfall of Premier Pierre Laval's government and elimination of the peace advocate

PASSAGE OF SENATE BONUS PAYMENT BILL BELIEVED ASSURED

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(P)—The senate agreed today to start consideration of the baby-bond bonus payment bill tomorrow after Republican Leader McNary had urged a day's delay under the rules.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) of the finance committee sought floor consideration today. But McNary said "in all fairness" to members who have not read the bill and the committee report submitted only late yesterday, the full-payment measure should go over until tomorrow.

The senate then agreed to Harrison's unanimous consent request that debate begin tomorrow.

Senator King (D-Utah) introduced a substitute bill providing for payment now of only the cash surrender or present value of the 20-year adjusted service (bonus) certificates which he estimated would save $1,000,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(P)—Enactment of the Harrison bill to pay the soldiers' bonus in blocks of $50 cashable bonds was conceded today by a prominent opponent of the measure despite Secretary Morgenthau's testimony

LITTLE DISPOSITION APPARENT IN CONGRESS TO PROVIDE NEW TAXES DESPITE BUDGET LOSSES

By NATHAN ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(P)—Despite the gaping holes torn in the Roosevelt fiscal program there was little disposition in Capitol Hill today to provide new taxes at this session unless the administration demands them.

Within ten days, developments have arisen that threaten to knock the Roosevelt fiscal program from $2,500,000,000 to $3,500,000,000 out of kilter. The AAA decision by the supreme court left huge gaps in the revenue and congressional plans for paying the bonus would add to the expense. More damage to the president's estimates may be forthcoming later.

But administration leaders on the Hill remain non-committal over the prospect of new taxes, or go further and forecast there will be none except to finance a new farm plan. Opposition forces are critically believed by members of congress that this will involve new taxes, and that they may to some extent cover up the hole in the budget created by the supreme court's AAA decision.

GOVERNOR HOFFMAN ANNOUNCED 30-DAY STAY OF EXECUTION

MEANS, HOWEVER, CONVICTED MAN WILL GET THREE MONTHS MORE OF LIFE

By DALE HARRISON
Associated Press Staff Writer.
(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press.)
TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 16. (P)—Through a 30-day reprieve by Governor Harold Hoffman, Bruno Richard Hauptmann late today was given about three months to live before he can be put to death for the kidnaper-murder of the Lindbergh baby.

Immediately after the governor announced he had granted the reprieve, Attorney General David T. Wilentz said Hauptmann, who was under sentence to die tomorrow night, would not die for at least three months because it would be necessary to re-sentence him.

His sentence was fixed for "the week of January 13" and under the law if he did not die during that period Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard would be forced to set a new death date.

The governor said that "for divers reasons which I do not care to disclose" he was granting the reprieve. The governor made no comment as to whether he had a "confession" for some persons other than Hauptmann.

The law provides that a sentencing judge, upon signing the death warrant, must fix a date not less than four, nor more than eight weeks after the date of signing.

Just One Reprieve.

The governor said he intended to grant "just this one reprieve" unless developments should warrant otherwise.

He said he had made a personal appeal to the governor of the state of New Jersey for a reprieve came with dramatic swiftness after the United States Supreme Court had, for the second time, denied the condemned

Candy Salesman Robbed of Cash Truck Wednesday

Four hi-jackers are alleged to have robbed J. H. Trone, candy salesman of Waxahachie, of his candy truck, $72 in cash, a $28 check and another check of smaller amount about 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon near Trinity river, according to a report made to county officers shortly after 9 o'clock Wednesday night by the victim.

It was reported that two of the robbers drove the International candy truck away while the other two held Trone captive and drove about a couple of hours in an automobile before they finally released him. Trone made his way to Corsicana where he reported the affair to the county officers.

No arrests had been made early Thursday afternoon and no trace of the truck had been reported. Trone telephoned the sheriff's office from Waxahachie Thursday afternoon trying to find some trace of his missing truck.

The robbery and kidnapping was also reported to the city police department.

WORST DISASTER IN AMERICAN AIR TRAVEL IN ARKANSAS SWAMP

GIANT AIRLINER CRASHED LATE TUESDAY BETWEEN MEMPHIS AND LITTLE ROCK

By ED L. CAMPBELL
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

GOODWIN, Ark., Jan. 15.—(P)—Remnants of 17 bodies—victims of America's most disastrous airplane catastrophe—were recovered today from Arkansas marsh country where they crashed to death last night in "The Southerner," luxurious American Airlines transcontinental ship.

There were no survivors. Coronator J. C. Crawford held that the 14 passengers and crew of three—12 men, four women and child—died "by accidental airplane crash."

A department of commerce official predicted the cause of the disaster probably never would be known.

The last of the bodies was brought out of the swampland at 8:45 a. m. in flatbed wagons drawn by mules struggling in deep mud.

All were removed to a Memphis funeral home where it was hoped definite identifications could be made.

Rescue workers, who found bodies strewn over an area 400 yards long and about 75 yards wide in a water-filled bog, left the wreckage as it was for a study by Jack Jones, Fort Worth division airline inspector for the department of commerce.

The liner crashed early last night on the Memphis-Little Rock hop of the regular New York-Los Angeles flight. Searching parties did not locate the wreckage until midnight, finding plane and bodies torn to bits as the big liner settled down over a woodland, then crashed through a dense growth of trees in the midst of the swamp.

Officials Arrive. American Airlines officers and department of commerce inspectors arrived here this morning to investigate, donning hip boots for the plunge into the marsh.

Federal authorities said no announcement of the findings would be made until a report was filed in Washington.

The group included Lake Littlejohn of the department of commerce; Jack Jones and E. M. Jacobs, department inspectors from Fort Worth; and C. B. Smith of Fort Worth, president of American Airlines; R. S. Damon of Chicago, vice-president of the line; William Littlewood of Chicago, the company's chief engineer; and R. Cantwell of Chicago, general superintendent.

They flew by plane to nearby Forrest City and came here by motor. A department of commerce official, viewing the splintered wreckage, said the cause of the accident probably never would be known.

Plane and bodies were torn to bits as the liner crashed through a dense growth of trees, scattering plane parts and the victims over an area 400 yards long and about 75 yards wide. The wreckage came to rest in a water-filled bog.

Tentative plans called for removal of the bodies to Memphis, with further effort to be made there at identification. Wagons bogged down, rescuers moved them out slowly on stretchers.

Among the victims was W. R. Dyess, works progress administrator for Arkansas; and Frank C. Hart, wealthy New Yorker, president of the Hartol Products company.

Coroner Carried to Scene. Coroner Crawford, aged 62, of St. Francis county, was carried to the scene by a stretcher through the swamps to the scene before dawn to hold an inquest.

He was held aloft by four men, standing deep in water, as he examined the bodies, heard two farmers who said they saw the plane fall, and made notes in a small book by the light of lanterns.

On stretchers, the bodies which had been recovered were carried before him and, with the assistance of Cecil West, Jr., of Little Rock, he attempted identification.

Many of the entries in the coroner's book read: "Man, unidentified." "Woman—Name unknown." "Verdict that all 17 died 'by accidental airplane crash.'"

The first body to be identified was that of W. S. Hardwick of Beardstown, Ill.

One shaky farm wagon, drawn by two mules, managed to get within 500 yards of the wreckage after bogging down many times. It was used to get the bodies out of the swamp, a mile and a quarter away.

Two Farmers Saw Crash. Two farmers appeared before Coroner Crawford's swampland inquest to tell of seeing the two-colored Douglas plane descend into the woods shortly before 7:30 p. m. (Central standard time) last night.

Gaylord Dover of Palestine, Ark., testified he was walking along highway 70—Broadway of America route usually followed by the transcontinental ships through Arkansas—when he saw the liner flying rather low over the adjacent woods.

Goodwin, we began to find bits of metal on the ground, the pieces of metal, and we knew we were on the right trail.

"We followed these clues and saw where the trees had been torn up and ripped up, and the plane for a distance of 300 yards before we came to the wreck itself. It was slow going, in boggy ground, much of it covered four or five feet deep with swamp water.

Complete Wreck. "I say we reached the wreckage, but what it amounted to was finding the larger pieces of the plane with our flashlights. The wings were gone, torn to pieces, the motors were there in the mud, but buried in the ground.

"The plane and the bodies were scattered all over the place, most of the bodies being near the motors.

"It looked to me that the plane had come down at levelled off at the treetops, then got into the trees, and it could through the trees, long as it could through the trees.

"I do not believe it would be possible to identify definitely more than three or four of the dead.

"I understand there was a child on the ship. I found the child's shoes, near the motors, but not the body.

There was baggage and mail scattered all over the place. The cabin of the plane was gone, just one side wall standing. Two bodies near the motor looked like they might have been pilots.

The "Southerner" took off with 14 passengers, two pilots and stewardess in good weather and apparently was in good mechanical shape. Radio communication between the plane and its ground stations was maintained until four or five minutes before the estimated time of the crash. The last report was an "all well" sent from 3:00.

The department of commerce and operators of the line which began service over this particular route just a year ago Tuesday sought to find in the shredded remains of the big plane a clue as to what happened in those fateful few minutes which sent the liner to destruction.

The plane left Newark, N. J., yesterday afternoon, bound for Los Angeles.

Gerald V. Marshall, 40, veteran pilot, with the company since 1928, and with 3,400 flying hours under his helmet, was in charge of the ship. The co-pilot was Glenn Freeland, former manager of a Joplin, Mo., airport. Miss Perla Gasparini, 23, of Fort Worth, stewardess, completed the crew of "The Southerner."

The passenger list given out by the company at Fort Worth follows:

Charles Altschul, 340 North Central, Glendale, Calif.

John Cahn, 827 South Pimpau Blvd., Los Angeles.

Mrs. S. Horowitz, Mrs. B. Horowitz and Seba Horowitz, all of Walcott Road, Boston, Mass.

R. Dyess, 101 Ridgeway, Little Rock, Ark.

R. H. McNair, Jr., 314 South Balm street, Little Rock, Ark.

Mrs. J. S. Gremillion, Knoxville, Tenn.

R. C. Hart, 630 Fifth Avenue, New York, an oil man.

W. S. Hardwick, Beardstown, Illinois.

A. D. Chernus, Beardstown, Illinois.

Porter, Third and Lehl streets, Philadelphia.

Henry W. Flato, Jr., Laredo, Texas.

He gained a reputation as an air pilot, flyer and at the time of last night's crash had 9,400 hours in the air. He had been with American Airlines since 1928.

While at the University Marshall organized and operated three years the University School of Aeronautics. He taught flying in the winter and operated a flying circus in the summer.

For 10 months he was air mail pilot for the Texas Air Transport, Inc., and later became manager of the T. A. T. Flying Schools, Inc. He developed a system of seven schools before he was appointed division manager of the T. A. T. with headquarters in New Orleans.

As manager, he appointed himself air mail pilot and then resigned his executive position.

Marshall became a pilot in the double daily air service across the continent in January, 1935, flying between Fort Worth and New York.

The 40-year-old aviator was a native of Indiana. He came to Texas from Columbus, Ohio.

Victim of Crash Self Made Man NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(P)—Frank C. Hart, victim of an American Airlines plane crash near Goodwin, Ark., was regarded here as an exceptionally capable young man, a "self-made man" who, in a "hoisting" of $1,000 into a sizeable fortune.

Coming here in 1923 at the age of 25, Hart founded the Hartol ducts Co., distributing petroleum products, and in the succeeding dozen years broadened his territory to include almost the entire Atlantic seaboard.

An aviation enthusiast, Hart held a private pilot's license and frequently used his own small plane for business trips.

At his office it was learned he left Monday night for Texas and California oil fields.

The oil man figured in a sensational assault suit only two months ago when Mrs. Florence Hatzel sought $250,000 damages from him. She charged he assaulted her in a Greenwich village apartment.

In an answering affidavit, Hart asserted "it was never necessary for me to violently force my attentions on her."

Hart and his first wife were divorced a few months earlier, he then married Mrs. Cora Woodworth in Reno, Nev., last June 28. The second Mrs. Hart was the daughter of Frank Woodworth of Rochester, N. Y., and of Mrs. Helen Falls Woodworth of New York.

Inspectors En Route. WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(P)—The commerce department announced today that two inspectors are en route to the scene of the American Air Lines crash at Goodwin, Ark.

They are J. B. Jayne and E. M. Jacobs who were in Fort Worth, Texas, conferring with inspectors there on general matters.

They were immediately dispatched to Little Rock, Ark., with instructions to proceed to the crash scene.

The two officials will make a preliminary report to the commerce department and public hearings will be held probably in Little Rock or Goodwin, Ark., after the accident board of the commerce department will report publicly its conclusions as to the cause of the crash. Such reports usually are ready about 30 days after an accident.

Prominent Business Man. LAREDO, Jan. 15.—(P)—Henry W. Flato, Jr., 26, prominent young business man killed with 16 others in the crash of an American Airlines plane near Goodwin, Ark., last night, was returning here from Chicago, where he had been on a business trip.

He was the vice-president of the American Furniture and Bed Company of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico. Born at San Luis Potosi, Mexico, young Flato attended Texas A. and M. College and the University of Texas, where he was a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

His father, Henry W. Flato, Sr., a prominent resident of this section, died two years ago. Young Flato was a well known polo player.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. H. W. Flato; a brother, Oliver Flato, Laredo; and his grandmother, Mrs. H. N. Flato of San Antonio.

He will be buried at Mission cemetery in San Antonio.

Was Prominent Contractor. BEARDSTOWN, Ill., Jan. 15.—(P)—W. S. Hardwick, 45, of Beardstown, one of the 17 victims of the air liner crash in an Arkansas swamp, was en route to San Antonio, Texas, on business when the accident occurred.

Hardwick, president of the Hardwick Construction Company, was accompanied by his partner, A. D. Chernus, of St. Louis.

AIRPLANE CRASH IS GIVING VILLAGERS SOMETHING TO DISCUSS

ARKANSAS TOWN GOES TO BED EARLY AND WAKES UP TO FIND DISASTER

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

GOODWIN, Ark., Jan. 15.—(P)—Goodwin blinked blood-shot eyes today as it realized the greatest tragedy in the history of American airplane travel occurred in the swamp lands at its back door.

Only yesterday the town folk gathered at J. W. French's general store to talk over the AAA decision and gossip about the neighbors. Nothing, they said, ever happens here.

Last night French closed his store as usual. It was the end of the day's work. At 7 o'clock Goodwin went to bed and French along with it.

A little later, a farmer, George Jones, knocked on French's door. He told a story of hearing an airplane's motors roaring in the night. Of going to the door of his little cabin, seeing a dark shape speeding over the tree-tops, and then hearing a "terrible crash."

Hurriedly French dressed. He went to his store which has the only telephone in the little community, and notified officers at Forrest City, 15 miles east of here.

Meanwhile, searching parties were organizing. Goodwin men left their homes and came to French's store.

Lanterns were taken from pegs in French's store, hip boots were hurriedly unpacked and pockets crammed with crackers, and cheese and food that can be eaten after struggling through sloppy lowlands.

French's was the local point of the rescue parties. Ambulance drivers gathered at the store to await the searchers with the bodies—17 of them.

Coroner Arrives. The coroner, J. C. Crawford, arrived. It was dismal in the swamp. The thin wisps of fog curled from the murky waters through which searchers stumbled, water sometimes to their ankles, sometimes to their hips.

Goodwin whispered in wakefulness. Hours later a man stumbled out of the gloom. There was horror in his eyes. He is J. W. Fogg, a farmer who led the searching party.

"They're all dead. You won't need a doctor. The plane—what's left of it—is buried in five feet of mud and water."

A few minutes Hope Lee Bradford, 16-year-old boy of Forrest City, who followed the ambulances

Coroner Crawford climbed into a farm wagon and clucked at the pair of stout mules.

Church Societies Of Wortham Met On Monday Afternoon

WORTHAM, Jan. 16.—(Spl)—The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Central Presbyterian church met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Meador Monday with Mrs. Meador as hostess.

An unusually large number were present to begin the first meeting of the New Year, and enjoy the delightful gathering of the membership which filled the lovely reception room and sun parlor.

Mrs. J. J. Stubbs, president, presided over the business session, which also included the annual reports of officers, all showing growth for the auxiliary. Mrs. Stubbs also presented the study topic, in the absence of the director, Mrs. Frank Red. Much information of the China Mission field was reviewed in the annual roll call of the membership, responding with news items from the field.

A "Forward Look" and "The Backward Look" were subjects well handled by Mesdames Dick Wimberly and George Stubbs, respectively. Mrs. K. W. Sneed gave the devotional, selecting for her subject "God Is Love."

Mrs. Harry Bounds pleasantly entertained with a reading. Mrs. Meador, assisted by Mesdames J. P. Stubbs and T. B. Poindexter served a delicious salad course during the social hour.

Baptist Society. The missionary society of the Baptist church enjoyed a large attendance of the church women in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Burleson Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Burleson as the hostess. Very little business was attended to as it was a real New Year party for the church women. The president, Mrs. L. S. Seales, assisted by Mesdames Walter Wilson, Henry Watson and Ernest Jones, were in charge of the delightful program that was enjoyed throughout the session.

Friendly greetings, building plans for the New Year, lovely refreshments, which Mrs. Burleson served at conclusion of the social time, marked a happy hospitality as well as the fine meeting.

Methodist Protestant Women. At the home of Mrs. J. P. Lindley, with the daughter of the home, Miss Ava Lindley, as hostess, assisted by Mesdames Crenshaw and J. H. Steadman, the women of the Methodist Protestant church met Monday afternoon. A large attendance of the members were present and enjoyed the program arranged by the leader, Mrs. L. Cole. A study of the mission work in India was the assigned topic. The devotional was given by Mrs. E. A. Strang. Mesdames Carl Bounds, W. A. Loveless, R. H. Lee and George Bounds assisted on the program.

A social program arranged by the social committee was enjoyed before the serving of lovely salad plates, concluding the pleasant afternoon assembly.

Card of Thanks. We take this method of thanking each one of our friends and kind neighbors for their many kind deeds and sympathy shown us during the long illness and death of our dear beloved husband and father, Mr. L. ## STOCKHOLDERS OF PRODUCTION CREDIT ASSOCIATION MEET

REPORTS OCCUPIED MORNING SESSION; LARGE ATTENDANCE PRESENT

By PAUL MOORE
Nominations for directors and an address by C. A. Wierford, secretary-treasurer of the Ellis Farm Loan Association are scheduled at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the stockholders of the Corsicana Production Credit Association at the Carnegie library. Numerous reports by officials and others were heard at the morning session. A large number of stockholders were present.

J. N. Edens of Corsicana, president, presided at the meeting and made a report of the purpose of the meeting, etc. Others appearing on the program included R. A. Caldwell, Corsicana, secretary-treasurer of the association; G. D. Kennedy, field representative of Houston; Earl Easterling, Chaffin, J. A. Ledford, Forest; John H. Rugeley, Houston, officer of the association; and J. P. Ballew, Midlothian, director of the association.

Directors present included B. L. Sanders, Corsicana; J. M. Payne, Hillsboro; J. O. Burke, Corsicana; and Mr. Ballew.

Secretary-treasurer Caldwell gave a report of the business of 1935, showing an increase over 1934. There were 220 loans in 1935 as compared with 116 in 1934. The loans amounted to $64,246 in 1935 as compared with $19,075 the previous year. Capital stock owned by members this year is $3,830, while only $1,115 was owned in 1934.

Operating Income
The operating income of the Corsicana association this year amounted to $5,889 while the operating expense was shown as $4,087, a net profit of $1,802 as compared with $1,844 for the 10 months in operation in 1934, with net $4,568 profit placed in the reserve funds. Numerous other figures relating to loans, etc., showing combined assets of the association at $161,408 was made.

Among the employees introduced were Wade J. Price, assistant secretary - treasurer, Corsicana; Miss Hazel Sparks, Corsicana; Fred Taylor, Ellis county; Hugh Barlow, Kerens; and E. B. Dawson, Dawson, Texas.

The report of President Edens and Secretary-Treasurer Caldwell were approved. G. D. Kennedy of Houston, field representative of the Farm Credit Administration, declared it was remarkable the way the farmers and ranchers of Texas are coming back their loans. He showed figures relative to the loans in force in Texas of the Production credit, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, Bank of Co-Operatives and the Federal Land Bank commissioners.

The speaker showed how the borrowers from the local association paid five per cent interest for only the time they used the money and needed it, and repaid the loans when the products are sold. He outlined the various workings and procedures of the allied banks and credit associations. He also stated that as the farmers and stockmen buy the B stock in the association, the A capital is withdrawn, with the ultimate result hoped for that the members will own the entire association.

Extend Much Credit.
John H. Rugeley of the Houston office said the Corsicana association compared favorably with other associations in Texas. He pointed out that this type of production credit was needed. Mr. Rugeley pointed out that the various farm credit units since their organization had extended credit for almost a billion dollars to Texas farmers and ranchmen. He said that about $13,000,000 was borrowed in 1935 and more than $10,000,000 of it had been repaid at the present time. He stressed the necessity of making sound loans to preserve the reserves of the various associations.

Mr. Rugeley said the government did not intend to participate on a permanent basis, and will retire as the association's income increases. He pointed out that the government is not furnishing the money loaned by the associations, but that debentures are purchased by the lending public at a low rate of interest.

FARM PLAN
Director Ballew outlined the duties of the board of directors in the various phases of activity—hiring of officials, determining the policies, and mainly serving as trustees for the interest of the memberships.

declare publicly for a "permanent and constitutional" national farm program. It drafted a 10-point platform emphasizing credit, subsidies and tariffs to exclude the competition of foreign farm products in American markets.

Almost simultaneously the national co-operative council, another extremely important member of the national agricultural conference, declared for the strengthening of marketing agreements as the foundation of a new farm economy.

The American Farm Bureau Federation, largest and wealthiest member of the conference, reiterated its determination to support the administration's plan to make additional benefit payments to farmers who co-operated in a program of balanced production.

The National Grain corporation was reported in step with the government plan to "supplant purchased compliance" with "treated performance" as a constitutional basis for continuing the principles of AAA.

At a conference held at the national farm bureau, the militant farmers union clamored for a cost of production program the American Agricultural Editors Association, completing the conference membership, had not announced its position at the meeting convened.

Fundamentally, each separate unit of the conference reverberated by questions so frequently that the presiding officer finally had to ask the audience to refrain from any more interruptions until the address had been completed. The portion of his paper dealing with actual crushing was delivered to the mill men after the general conference had been completed.

E. B. Hulsey of Terrell, led the debate on the paper, after admitting that the mill operators had been negligent in keeping the farming public informed on just what to expect from the mill. He declared that the mill owners and operators were interested in the crop because it would extend their crushing season and give them a better chance of profitable returns from their thirty million dollar investment in Texas.

Need Another Cash Crop.
L. E. Robinson, agricultural agent for L. A. and T. Railway, told the conference that there were three main reasons why Texans should be interested in soy beans. Including the need of another cash crop by the farmers, more crushing for the mills, possibility of the beans extending livestock production and soil building qualities of the crop. He declared that the last reason was sufficient for the planting of the crop even if there were no possibility of cash returns. He stated that he had seen soy beans planted in a row and the land produce 30 bushels of corn to the acre the fourth year where it had been fifteen before the beans were planted.

Promptly at 3 o'clock, President A. G. (Pat) Mayse of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce adjourned the conference on schedule.

to its historic policies and privately expressed determination to be guided by them now that the whole question of federal farm aid seemed to have been reopened. Predictions were based on the mounting evidence of dissension among its members and the fact that conference by-laws require unanimous approval or complete discard of any action brought before the organization.

BIG OIL COMPANIES RENEW DEMAND FOR ACREAGE PRORATION

INDICATED THAT OTHER STATES RECEIVING BETTER TREATMENT THAN TEXAS

AUSTIN, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Major oil companies renewed a demand at the monthly proration hearing of the railroad commission today that acreage be considered in fixing allowable production of the East Texas oil field.

Inquiry as to the method of which the federal bureau of mines decides on the market demand for Texas crude also was voiced with the commission that other states might be receiving more than their share of the authorized national production.

R. E. Hardwick of Fort Worth, attorney representing a group of large companies, told the commission that "something ought to be done about East Texas."

The companies several months ago introduced voluminous testimony at hearings in efforts to show that the present system of basing allowances on potential producing ability of wells was inequitable and out of line with decisions made by the federal bureau of mines.

"What do you think should be done?" asked Ernest O. Thompson, commission chairman recently returned from Washington.

If the commission should quit basing production on its general spacing rule," Hardwick replied. "Every tract in East Texas has a well on it. There should be readjustments of allowances."

An operator protested that his acreage in East Texas was being drained by wells on nearby tracts against which he had no protection other than by drilling additional wells while such drilling was uncontrolled. He likewise demanded "relief."

Jack Blalock of Marshall, representing independent companies, strongly defended the commission's present method of allocating production on potential basis.

He contended adoption of the acreage basis was sought by certain interests to increase the return on investments "without regard to investments or property rights."

The supreme court in the Brown-Humble Oil Producing and Refining company case sustained the right of the commission to grant exceptions to the general spacing rules for reasons of equity.

Former Senator J. D. Parnell of Wichita Falls asked for information as to how the bureau of mines reached its conclusions as to market demand, in view of the fact nominations made at last month's hearing were greater than at the previous month and the commission subsequently reduced the state's allowable.

"It is reported California and Oklahoma wells are producing virtually wide open," Parnell said. "In a fairness, Texas operators ought to know how the bureau of mines arrives at its conclusions."

Thompson said certain of mines representatives at previous hearings had explained methods and many facts besides nominations were considered.

"As far as other states are concerned," he said, "the hands of the commission are not tied. It does not have to take any figures into consideration. It is free to fix production so there will be no physical waste. The purpose of the legislature was to stop production in excess of market demand with resulting waste."

The Panhandle district reported 257,000 barrels of oil had been drawn from storage in December. The average production of wells in the district was 256 barrels daily.

Thet Phillips Petroleum company protested against what it termed unfair methods of competitors in completing wells. Spokesmen said the company would take defense unless the steps on its own account unless the commission could stop the practices complained of.

Too Much Drilling.
"If something is not done to stop drilling," said E. L. Smith of Mexico, "we may have an allowable production at a point where we would actually have physical waste."

Freeman Burford of Dallas, of the East Texas Refining Company, asserted development of a practical plan to restrict drilling is equally up to the commission.

He said the commission should raise the bid price for the renewal of drilling activity "by those who have held back."

The commission announced an official tabulation of February purchase nominations of 1,235,277 barrels daily, compared with 1,238,821 barrels nominated for this month.

District Nominations.
Nominations by district were: East Texas, 49,770; West Texas, 57,198; West Texas, 164,728; Southwest Texas, 114,021; West Central Texas, 49,105; Panhandle, 55,243; East Central Texas, 30,091; and Gulf Coast, 288,170, including 52,250 for Conroe.

Current production was approximately 1,044,600 barrels after numerous revisions were made in January. One which restricted production to an estimated 1,015,146 barrels at the start of the year.

The commission announced adoption of new rules of procedure in considering its various dockets. It decided to hold consultations each Monday and release opinions the following day.

Hearings on redistribution of allowances for the month of January were postponed until the next hearing because an attorney was ill.

The power trouble developed from a short circuit in the hell gate station of the New York Edison Company Tuesday night.

R. H. Tapscott, a vice president of the Edison company in a statement denied reports that sabotage might have been responsible.

"It was just an electrical failure such as can happen to any power plant at any time," he said.

SPORT NOTES

By PAUL MOORE — Sun Sports Editor

Waco Tigers again hurled a definite challenge to the remaining teams of the Central Texas Basketball league with championship aspirations Wednesday evening when they walloped the Hillsboro Eagles, 34-12, using a long string of substitutions. This was the third straight victory for the Wacoans. Hillsboro and Corsicana are definitely out of the running for the title and Mexia does not seem to rank with the leaders. Waco, Temple and Bryan are the three strongest clubs at the present time. The writer believes that Temple and Waco are stronger than the Broncs.

Corsicana entertains the Temple Wildcats here Friday night. The attendance at the basketball games here this season is disappointing to put it mildly. In fact, the attendance is almost nil. A good crowd might encourage the lads to put forth an extra effort to wallop Temple in a big upset Friday evening.

S. M. U. and Rice cagers registered a couple of startling upsets in the Southwest conference basketball race Wednesday night when they defeated the Texas Longhorns and Arkansas Razorbacks, respectively. These defeats left the Texas Christians on top in the percentage table with one win and no losses. It took two over-time periods for the Mustangs to lace the Longhorns.

This writer received the following letter from J. O. Walker, principal and coach of the Mildred High School relative to the approaching girls basketball tournament at Mildred which will be held Saturday and correcting a

MILES HAS RETURNED FROM ATTENDANCE ON FURNITURE MEETING

S. J. Miles, Corsicana furniture dealer, who attended the annual meeting of the National Retail Furniture Dealers' association and the national mart, held in the Merchandising Mart building and the Furniture Mart.

Mr. Miles said the stocks shown by manufacturers this year are snappier and have more style than those of previous years, and the prices are holding fairly stable. He said from his contacts with furniture men from all sections of the country, he learned that business done the past year far exceeded that of the previous year, and that the dealers are enthusiastic about the outlook for 1936 business.

"The furniture dealers are confident of the improved condition," Mr. Miles said, "and are buying strongly but not wildly."

He said a distinct honor was conferred on Texas by the election of B. F. McLain, Dallas, as president of the National Retail Furniture Dealers' Association. Mr. McLain is serving his third year as president of the Retail Furniture Dealers' of Texas.

"They went into the farmhouse and came out with two $5 federal reserve bank notes. They told me this was part of the Lindbergh ransom money."

Spitz's questioners recalled that $5 bills which were part of the ransom cash were federal reserve notes.

"Adolph and Fred said they had $22,000 of the Lindbergh money," Spitz said, "and would sell me $5,000 of it at 40 cents on the dollar."

He said he gave them $1,800 and without taking any of the ransom money, went to Chicago to seek more funds. When he returned to Newark three weeks later, he told he had the pair at the Newark hotel again but they told him their price now was 55 cents on the dollar.

He said he demurred and asked for his $1,800 but that after promising to return if they left and he never saw them again.

Later, Landesco announced, Spitz changed his story, declaring he secured some of the ransom cash and disposed of it "here and there."

Governor Horner's representative declined to say what they thought of the story, but said they would make a full report to him.

Government Delays Action
DALLAS, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The federal government is still delaying action to hold the escrow money which processors in this district put up when they filed suits attacking the AAA. John Erhard, first assistant United States district attorney, said today.

He said he had talked with Washington and had been informed it would be several days before a final decision would be reached on asking a rehearing on the rice and Hoosac Mill cases before supreme court.

Judge William C. Atwell dismissed the Denison, Cotton Mills suit and allowed the plaintiff to recover $33,563.41 escrow money. This brings total suits withdrawn in this district to more than $1,500,000.

MORGAN RESENTS INSINUATIONS MADE IN SENATE PROBE

BANKER ALLEGES CHARGE MADE U. S. BROUGHT INTO WAR WITH ENGLISH MONEY

By PRESTON L. GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(P)—Resentment at what he said was an insinuation that "we were brought into the war with English money" was expressed by J. P. Morgan today at the senate investigation of the Lindbergh case.

Chuckling but nonetheless positive in his assertion, the elderly financier swung upon Senator Clark (D-Mo.) with this:

"You are saying that we were brought into the war with English money and I don't like the insinuation."

An investigator for Clark and other committee members had just contended that this government, before entering the world conflict, tried to keep American banks liquid and ready for war by not to stop trade with the allies.

Morgan puffed furiously at his pipe as he once again disputed the committee's view that American interests were served by the allies, rather than submarines, led this country into the war.

At the outset of today's hearing, an extract from the diary of Col. Edward M. House, confidential adviser to Woodrow Wilson, was introduced to show Secretary of State Lansing wanted the war-time president to break with Germany early in January of 1917.

It was not until Feb. 1 of that year that Germany began unrestricted submarine warfare. The United States broke off diplomatic relations Feb. 3 and declared war April 6.

Evidence of Lansing's position was read into the record during questioning of J. P. Morgan and his partners. It immediately revealed a controversy between the Morgan group and the senate munitions committee over whether submarines or allied trade forced the United States into the war.

Clark, who said the diary dated Jan. 4, 1917, said:

"Lansing desires the president to press the submarine issue and to send Bernstorff home. He has written the president a note urging him to take a firm stand. He believes the president will not do this as the president told him the other day that he did not believe the people of the United States were willing to go to war because a few Americans had been killed."

Senators Claim to Prove Cause Entry U. S. in World War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(P)—Senators diving into World War documents argued today they had proved to the hilt one of their principle theses: That economic links with Germany, not U-boat outrages, were the primary cause of America's entry into the war.

The argument of Senator Clark (D-Mo.) and some others on the senate munitions committee is that made with the allies so involved in the United States that it could not escape joining them as belligerents regardless of any effort Germany made to render submarine warfare measure to stop these tactics.

The reason, Clark held, was the United States' deep involvement in trade with the allies. The result was, he contended, that Germany, which considered itself a victim of American imperialism toward the allies, had no alternative but to use her submarine power to attempt a blockade of her own.

Chairman Nye (R-ND) stirred a sensation in yesterday's hearing when he charged that President Wilson "falsified" in declaring before a senate committee that until after the war he knew nothing of secret treaties in which the allies had agreed to partition Europe.

Technically, J. P. Morgan and his partners are still the witnesses before the committee but they have had little part in the proceedings in recent days. The time has been spent in reading state department and other documents, some hitherto secret.

BONUS

about the financial task the treasury faces.

A southern senator not wishing to be quoted as saying that he himself would vote against the measure unless it provided for payment out of existing appropriations.

But he said the Morgenthau testimony before the senate finance committee would have little or no effect on final passage, even over a veto.

Morgenthau said in effect that enactment of the bill now would increase to $11,300,000,000 the new treasury financing necessary for the next 17-2 months.

The Harrison bill would pay the full face value of the $3,000,000 adjusted service certificates in special bonds equivalent to demand notes.

The bonds would be redeemable at local post offices beginning next June. If redeemed the first year, no interest would be paid. Three per cent interest would be paid to those holding them as an investment. They would mature in nine years.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) of the finance committee, whose name is attached to the bill, said he would ask a day's delay so senators could study the bill more thoroughly.

No one professed to know definitely what President Roosevelt would do once the bill is plumped on the White House doorstep. Some senators up for reelection were fretting, leading observers to believe they were not very hopeful of presidential approval.

Senators Ade bring results.

WAR SITUATION

in approaching League of Nations war parties.

The air raid on the hospital, midway between Dessye, Emperor Haile Selassie's headquarters and Makale, spearhead of the Italian drive in the north, resulted in destruction of half of the town by fire, the Ethiopian report said.

Three Caproni planes made the raid, the communiqué reported. "Six big bombs, of 330 pounds each, were dropped in the court of the Red Cross unit which was plainly marked with the Red Cross insignia."

Tents and surgical instruments were destroyed.

The Red Cross unit was established by Major Burgoyne at the request of the Ethiopian emperor after Burgoyne's services as military instructor had been rejected.

Three governments previously have protested Fascist bombings of hospitals and towns in Ethiopia for specific attacks and Ethiopia against Italian policy it termed "merciless extermination."

The battles along the southern front, which started Sunday, drew 50,000 native bushas from Italian Somaliland into conflict against 80,000 Ethiopians under Ras Desta Demtu, the emperor's son-in-law.

The Italian report described the defenders "in full retreat" after running fights down the valleys of the Ganale Doria and the Dawa Parma.

Stocked with provisions for three months, French battleships, cruisers and destroyers steamed away from the Brest harbor for maneuvers off the northwestern coast of Morocco.

The ships followed in the wake of 14 submarines which put out to sea yesterday. British ships were congregating off the coast of Spain.

Official Communique Tells of Bombing

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
ADDIS ABABA, Jan. 16.—(P)—Ethiopian government communiqué said today a Red Cross unit headed by the British major, Gerald Burgoyne, at Waldia, 90 miles north of Dessye, was destroyed in an Italian aerial bombardment and 14 natives were killed.

"Half the town of Waldia was destroyed by fire," the communiqué reported. "Seven women and seven old men were killed."

The aerial attack took place at 11 a. m., Tuesday, the government's announcement said, at the town midway between Dessye, field headquarters of Emperor Haile Selassie, and Makale, forward of the Italian northern front.

The communiqué said, "thirty-five persons were wounded, mostly women and children."

"Three Caproni planes made the raid. Six big bombs, of 330 pounds each, were dropped in the court of the Red Cross unit which was plainly marked with the Red Cross insignia."

Tents and surgical instruments were destroyed.

"A British ambulance unit from Dessye is going to the rescue."

Major Burgoyne came to Ethiopia after the conflict broke between Italy and his empire, to be appointed military instructor to Crown Prince Asfa Wosnan.

The British legation, however, opposed any participation by him in Ethiopian military affairs, so he joined the Red Cross.

Italian authorities said he apparently escaped uninjured from the Waldia bombardment.

Italians Claim Hard Fought Advances

ROME, Jan. 16.—(P)—A sweeping, bitterly-fought Italian advance along the entire Somaliland front was claimed today by the fascist high command in Ethiopia.

Marshal Pietro Badoglio, in wireless dispatches from the African theatre of war, announced "complete success" in an advance of more than 40 miles during a Gannale Doria battle which claimed unestimated Ethiopian losses.

There was no mention of Italian casualties.

Badoglio wireless that the Gannale Doria battle was "conducted with complete success for us" and that "our troops advanced over 70 kilometers (about 44 miles) along the entire front, overcoming fierce resistance from the enemy."

Troops of Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, are "retiring in disorder and our troops are pursuing," the marshal reported.

Fascist advances from the Somaliland front previously had said more than 100,000 warriors were engaged along the entire sector in the "most important" battle of the three-week Italian war between Italy and Ethiopia.

The Ethiopian defenders, although greater in numbers, were described as in "full retreat."

ANNA HAUPTMANN VISITED HUSBAND; HOPE MAINTAINED

WIFE OF CONDEMNED LINDBERGH BABY KILLER FEELS CERTAIN HE WILL NOT DIE

By PAT MCCRADY
Associated Press Staff Writer.
TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 16.—(P)—Anna Hauptmann today saw her husband, perhaps for the last time alive, and came from the death house far from hopeless and far from any demonstration of grief.

"I didn't ask for permission to take the life of an innocent man," she said. "I am hopeful, and so is Richard."

"Richard seemed actually happy when I told him our son Manfred, was here in Trenton. But I won't take the baby to see him. Richard and I decided he should never see this place (the prison)."

"I didn't ask for permission to see him again today."

This statement was considered significant of her confidence that he would not be electrocuted tomorrow night for the Lindbergh baby murder, since prison authorities said yesterday that Mrs. Hauptmann would not be permitted to see the condemned man after today if the execution should be scheduled.

"Most of our conversation was about the baby," she said.

"I have not seen Governor Hoffman, and have no present plans to do so."

"If you know anything about a reprieve being granted, you know more than I do."

The baby was brought from New York during the trial and is staying at a hotel with his mother, Mrs. Hauptmann, who spells the baby's name with one n and no i—Manfred.

HAUPTMANN

started to arise to continue his speech but was stopped by Hughes. The chief justice in a low voice said:

"Just a moment."

Adjusting his glasses he leaned forward and in a clear loud voice said:

"What is denied."

In the matter of Bruno Richard Hauptmann the application for leave to file a petition for writ of habeas corpus is denied.

Attorneys in the courtroom said the high court's action closes the doors of all courts to Hauptmann.

The courtroom tension eased as newsmen flashed the word. A moment later argument was resumed.

Washington lawyers who had filed the last minute appeal slightly more than two hours before were no longer in the courtroom.

Hughes paused slightly before saying the last word "denied."

The denied petition had contained a charge that the prosecution had "suppressed" important evidence favorable to Bruno Richard Hauptmann was made to the supreme court today by attorneys seeking to save the convicted kidnaper and murderer from the electric chair tomorrow night.

The charge was made in a petition for a writ of habeas corpus and for a stay of execution presented in open court by Neil Burkinshaw, one of the attorneys representing Hauptmann.

The petition, signed in Hauptmann's own handwriting, said the first ransom note was out of the possession of New Jersey officials immediately after its receipt by them.

The attorneys said it was testified at the trial the note never had left the possession of the officers. Later, Hauptmann and Isidore Fisch, who died in Germany were said to have been "suppressed."

The state also was said to have "failed to disclose" at the trial evidence that the kidnapper had been materially altered and changed between the time it was introduced in evidence.

Seldom Interfere
The petition did not claim these contentions had not been presented previously in court proceedings aimed at saving the life of Hauptmann. Court observers said, however, the justices seldom interfere in criminal cases at the last minute.

They already have refused to review Hauptmann's conviction.

Burkinshaw, wearing horn-rimmed glasses, turned to the law clerk directly in front of the chief justice to make his plea.

Former Australian Head Passes Away

ASSOCIATED PRESS (REUTERS)
LORD FORSTER

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(P)—Baron Forster of Lepe, 69, former governor-general of Australia, died here yesterday. Newspapers paid tribute to him today as a "typical English gentleman." He was elected to parliament at the age of 26.

Rescue Ship Says Man and Airplane Sighted Antarctic

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(P)—The captain of the Discovery II, searching for the missing explorer, Lincoln Ellsworth, indicated in a report today that an airplane had been sighted in Little America and that a man had been seen on the Bay of Whales.

The report did not identify the man or the airplane.

The committee in charge of the Discovery II rescue expedition announced officially.

A message had been received by the Discovery committee from the master of the Discovery II reporting that the boat arrived safely at the Bay of Whales at 10 p. m. Jan. 15. The message indicated one man was sighted from a plane and also a machine at Little America.

Part of the wireless message from the Discovery was garbled, making complete decoding impossible. Officials were waiting for a repetition of the message.

Lincoln Ellsworth has not been heard from since he took off with his Canadian pilot, Herbert Hollick-Kenyon on Nov. 23 for an airplane flight across the Antarctic from Dundee Island, 600 miles south of Cape Horn, to the Ross Sea, south of New Zealand.

The Royal research ship Discovery II sailed from Dundee, New Zealand, on Jan. 2 from the Bay of Whales, on the Ross Sea, to search for the missing plane.

The 1,036-ton vessel, dispatched by the British and Australian governments, carried food, medical supplies and two airplanes. On Jan. 11 she was reported lying in the South Polar Sea, waiting an opening in the ice to enter the Bay of Whales.

brought to Trenton during the night and remain here until after the hour set for the execution of his father for the Lindbergh baby murder.

Mrs. Hauptmann went to the prison this morning for another visit—perhaps her last—with Hauptmann, but she did not take the child with her. Hauptmann told her yesterday:

"I do not want to see the baby here. I will see him somewhere else."

No Knowledge of Confession.
TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 16.—(P)—William Conklin, press aide to Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, said today the governor "has no knowledge of any confession" in the Lindbergh kidnap-murder case.

Conklin said that up to 11:15 this morning the governor had reached no decision whether to grant a reprieve to Bruno Richard Hauptmann, facing death tomorrow night.

Asked whether there would be any announcement today, Conklin said he did not know.

Hoffman to Attend Conference
NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(P)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey is expected to attend a conference "around 3 p. m. (EST) today" in the office of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, was said by Mayor La Guardia's secretary.

Others expected at the conference, the secretary said, include J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation; Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, chief of the New Jersey state police; and Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine.

"Will the conference concern the Hauptmann case?" the mayor's secretary was asked.

"I am not able to say about that," was the reply.

Earlier, Hoover, who said he was returning to Washington later today, said he was unable "to throw any light" on the reports persistent in Trenton, N. J., that a confession in the Lindbergh case had been made by someone other than Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

"I can comment on that," Hoover said.

Wants to See Execution.
TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 16.—(P)—Amandus Hochmuth, octogenarian, who testified Bruno Richard Hauptmann drove by his residence near the state of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh the afternoon the Lindbergh baby was kidnapped, came to the statehouse today seeking a ticket to the execution of the condemned man.

CONFESSION REPORTS IN HAUPTMANN CASE REPORTED THURSDAY

UNCONFIRMED RUMORS DE-CLARED UNIDENTIFIED PER-SON ENTERED CASE

HAUPTMANN CASE AT A GLANCE.
By The Associated Press
Unsubstantiated report says new figure made purported confession to Governor Hoffman; could deny.

Defense plans eleventh hour plea to supreme court for writ of habeas corpus.

Reprieve from governor only other method of stopping execution tomorrow night.

Mrs. Hauptmann makes last visit to husband today; prisoner reported calm.

By DALE HARRISON
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 16.—(P)—Amid unsubstantiated reports of a confession from a new figure, Bruno Richard Hauptmann's fate forked two ways today: toward the United States supreme court and the office of Gov. Harold G. Hoffman.

In one of these directions lay the only hope of the convicted kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby to escape his rendezvous with death tomorrow at 8 p. m.

Reports which lacked official confirmation said an unidentified person filed a written confession with the governor, who is believed to favor a reprieve if development were warranted.

There was no indication of the nature of the purported document or of the person involved. Members of counsel on each side and one prominent state official denied the confession rumors.

Mysterious Conferences.
Mysterious midnight conferences in a New York hotel, presumably conducted by the governor, raised speculation that he was conferring with other officials on starting new evidence.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, left the hotel early today but declined to say whether he had talked with Hoffman.

"I don't know anything about it," he said of the reported confession. "Any statement will have to come from the governor."

Two hours earlier Edward J. Reilly, who was Hauptmann's head counsel during the trial at Flemington a year ago, had entered the same hotel. Like Hoover, he was silent as to the reason for his visit.

"That coincides with my theory that no one man could kidnap the child," he said when informed of the purported confession.

"It looks to me as if Hauptmann is going to get a reprieve. It may possibly be that this alleged participant was one of the outside men in the case kidnaping."

Hoover Talks With Officials.
Although the night conferences were surrounded with secrecy, it was announced that late yesterday Hoover talked in New York with New Jersey and New York officials. Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police; Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York; and Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine of New York attended the closed meeting.

All who could be reached declared the meeting had no connection with the Hauptmann case, but his defense attorneys were sure that Governor Hoffman had made overtures to the officials to study the value of the reported confession.

The group planned to meet again this afternoon, it was learned, and then issue a statement. Some sources believed the conference dealt with interstate racketeering. Sources believed the governor would delay the electrocution in order to question Dr. John F. Condon—the "Jafie" of the Lindbergh ransom negotiations—who is on a South American cruise. He and his daughter, Mrs. Myra Hacker, will land tomorrow at Cristobal, Canal Zone.

A 30-day reprieve would make it possible for Dr. Condon to return and answer Hoffman's doubts about details in magazine articles he has written on the crime, which occurred March 1, 1932.

As Hauptmann's lawyers fought to save his life, the prisoner faced the ordeal of saying goodbye to his wife.

May Be Last Visit.
Barring a reprieve, her visit today to the death cell would be her last. Prison rules prohibit visits on the day of execution.

Mrs. Hauptmann and her husband talked yesterday while electricians tested the electric chair. Hauptmann's cell is separated from the death chamber by a thick wall.

Prison routine required the equipment to be tested again today. The executioner, Robert Elliott of New York, has been told to be here tomorrow afternoon, far enough in advance of the death hour to inspect the apparatus.

About the time of Elliott's arrival, a duty officer gave a press on Hauptmann's head for the placing of one of the electrodes. The other will be clamped to his leg.

Reports from the prison were that Hauptmann remained calm and confident. He was undeniably highly nervous, as witnessed by excessive smoking and pacing of his cell.

His face, however, showed no emotion, no fear of the death that—save for a reprieve or court order—will come at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

LaGuardia Says Will Shock Town At Conference

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(P)—An- nouncing a conference at his office around 3 p. m. (EST) today, Mayor Fiorello La Guardia said "I am going to tell this town something that is going to give it a shock."

The mayor's statement created a great deal of mystery about the conference.

It was stated at the mayor's office that the conference would include Governor Harold Hoffman of New Jersey; Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, of the New Jersey state police; J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, and Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine.

The mayor's declaration was made in opening a new branch of the magistrate's court.

"I am going to tell the people something about circumventing crime in this state," the mayor said. "This time I mean action."

He said the conferences expected, it was assumed at first the conference would concern the Hauptmann case.

Later, at the city hall, the mayor was asked:

"Will the conference concern the Hauptmann case?"

"What have I got to do with the Hauptmann case?" he replied. "It was pointed out in the city hall that the conference might take in the current drive against racketeering in the metropolitan area."

Era Faye Turner
Weds B. F. Payne
Sunday Evening

A marriage of much interest to friends of Emhouse and Corsicana was that of Miss Era Faye Turner to B. F. Payne, which was solemnized in the presence of the immediate families and close friends Sunday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother in Emhouse. The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Horace Poteet, pastor of the Methodist church.

The bride was becomingly dressed in dusty-blue crepe, with a shoulder corsage of pink camellias. She carried out the old custom of wearing "something old and something new; something borrowed and something blue."

Following the ceremony a buffet supper was served the guests and the wedding cake was cut by the bride and by a sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. L. R. Turner of Cuero.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Emhouse High school and have many friends who wish them a very happy life together.—Contributed.

said they have "reliable" information that a reprieve for 30 days will be granted, but Hoffman himself has refrained from saying so. His latest statement, made yesterday from his office, was:

"I have made no decision."

Some believed the governor would delay the electrocution in order to question Dr. John F. Condon—the "Jafie" of the Lindbergh ransom negotiations—who is on a South American cruise. He and his daughter, Mrs. Myra Hacker, will land tomorrow at Cristobal, Canal Zone.

A 30-day reprieve would make it possible for Dr. Condon to return and answer Hoffman's doubts about details in magazine articles he has written on the crime, which occurred March 1, 1932.

As Hauptmann's lawyers fought to save his life, the prisoner faced the ordeal of saying goodbye to his wife.

LAVAL

tion of the franc.

The radical socialists, dominant in the chamber, also voted by 62 to 20 to demand that members of the party resign their six cabinet portfolios.

They held this demand in abeyance, however, preferring to fight on a motion condemning his policies. The premier is certain to make this motion a question of confidence, deputies said.

The premier, it was understood, told M. Herriot there was danger of an empty treasury, with the government unable to borrow funds to meet its bills, if a cabinet crisis is precipitated.

Herriot, who is minister of state, recently relinquished the radical socialist presidency in protest against criticism of M. Laval's part in writing the now defunct Anglo-French plan for Ethiopian peace.

The possibility that M. Laval might win the battle on the floor was left open when the radical socialists, by a vote of 41 to 40, failed to impose party discipline on the group.

Radical-Socialist hostility toward the premier was based on:

1. The belief he is "lukewarm" in his support of the League of Nations.

2. The feeling that his economic and financial decree laws accomplished little in conquering the French depression.

AS OTHERS HEAR THEM

The story is told about an unnamed but eminent public speaker who wondered why his speeches were not effective. A friend agreed to show him. A recording device was procured and the speaker was induced to give an address before it exactly as he would give it to an audience. Then the record was played, privately, with the speaker hearing himself as others heard him and his friend pointing out courageously everything that was wrong in style of speech, manner of delivery, voice, and so on. The speech-maker accepted this help in the spirit in which it was given, and his next audience noted surprising improvement.

True or fictitious, the tale appeals strongly to long-suffering people who never make public speeches but who feel obliged to listen to them. Some of these victims even wonder whether the method could not be extended, with the tutor not only pointing out faults of tone and diction, but faults of logic, misplaced humor and hokum. But that is too much to expect this side of the millennium—or the next election.

SUBSIDIZED COMMUNISTS.

Soviet Russia started by giving equal pay to all workers, which was according to Communist theory. It is a big jump from that proletarian equality to a performance going on in Moscow this winter. There are 100,000 workmen pouring in from the provinces, in groups of hundreds at a time, to get their reward from a grateful government for good work.

These are, according to Walter Duranty in the New York Times, "workers from mines or factories, cotton farmers from Uzbekistan or Turkmenistan with dark skins and fantastic eastern costumes of colored silk, record-breaking Eskimo hunters from the Far North, Kirghiz or Tartar sheep men, cattle men and horse men of the steppes, employees of tea and citrus fruit plantations in the Caucasus, lumber men from all parts of the Soviet Union, flax-growers from the Northwest provinces of European Russia, and those who raise record crops of tobacco or beet root."

They have served the state and the state therefore honors them, giving them a fine vacation trip to the capital and treating them like princes during their visit. There is no distinction of party or creed. Even the sons of kulaks, formerly persecuted, are now honored. The one test is production. If they have produced more for the state than was expected of them, they are treated as public benefactors. And they go home filled with zeal for greater service.

Isn't there an ideal here that capitalistic countries could adopt with profit?

Quite a lot of old ladies are honestly worried because they don't see how they could possibly spend all that $200 a month.

With all this interest in twins, triplets, quadruplets and quintuplets, it begins to look as if babies are becoming popular again.

The king and queen of Italy have given their rings for Il Duce's war. But that's nothing. They may yet give their crowns.

This year's war program: Neutrality abroad, belligerency at home.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright, 1935, Edgar A. Guest).

TO THE FATHER

He has comrades, eight or ten for the games you cannot share; If he needs a second baseman he can find one anywhere. You have grown too old to play and you're much too fat to run. You have come to middle age and his youth has just begun. So don't try to be his pal. You will better save the lad. If you'll be content to be just his understanding dad.

He'll have friends wherever he goes, just as you did years ago. And perhaps they'll talk of things they may not want you to know. There are others of his age who will keep him company. But there's something he'll require only you have power to be. You've a higher place to fill. Pals can everywhere be had. What the youngster wants and needs is an understanding dad. Be his Father! That's enough! When his time of play is through. Let him know what's betide he may safely come to you. Be the father unto whom he can tell his every need. And be sure of sympathy, for it's that he's bound to need. You are old and he is young. Mark the difference and be glad. He may never want for pals, but he'll often want his Dad.

NATURALIZATION METHODS

Reform in examinations has reached the immigration bureau and the courts having jurisdiction over the naturalization of aliens. Hereafter, say instructions issued by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, there must be no "trick" or "catchy" questions asked of applicants for citizenship.

In the past, it seems, aliens seeking to become Americans have been asked such things as "How high is Bunker Hill?" "How many legs has the Constitution?" and "How many stars are there on a quarter?"

It is conceivable that a person might flunk these questions and still have all the essential qualifications for good citizenship, including moral character and intelligence. More important than memorized facts in this business is the applicant's attitude toward his home, family, neighbors, community, agencies of government and the public welfare. More important than knowledge of specific details of the Constitution are understanding and acceptance of its fundamental principles. The purpose of the examination is to discover such things about the men and women seeking naturalization. They should therefore be couched in simple language. Examiners should be "fair, courteous, patient, helpful and sympathetic."

The native born citizen who has never paid any attention to the process by which aliens become naturalized is surprised, not to say shocked, to learn that these reforms are needed.

PUBLICITY OR MYSTERY

Frank editors and reporters will admit that, in a sense, the Lindberghs have been "persecuted" and "hounded." The only excuse the press offers is that the pursuit has been in behalf of the public it serves. The decent press, which comprises the great majority of newspapers, will gladly do what it can to let the afflicted family enjoy the privacy it desires. It is time for a square deal in this matter.

But there is something that the Lindberghs can do to make it possible. The best way to avoid public prying into their private affairs is to avoid mystery.

The advice given Col. Lindbergh by a London paper, on his arrival in England, was good. He and his wife cannot be blamed for running away from the swarming news men at Liverpool, but it was unwise. A frank talk to those news men, explaining why the fugitives came to England, where they were going and what they hoped to gain, would have been disarming. There would have been no more mystery. The English public would probably have acquiesced and let them alone. With a continuance of that policy, they might live as they desire, in England or even in America.

The University of Washington is going to change things around, making instructors listen while students do the talking. This is terrible. The students will have to know something.

THE RACE

—By Clive Weed

BOMBING OPEN SPACE.

When Mussolini began his war preparations, the rest of the world was inclined to agree that the backward Ethiopians would be no match for the modern war planes and tanks the Italians would use against them. There were some observers, however, who realized that planes require massed targets to be effective and that the small villages and mountain hide-outs of the Ethiopians did not furnish them.

This has proved to be the case. It is reported that the natives have got over their first terror and are amused at the thought of the heavy cost of every great bomb dropped on their soil. An example is a raid made by 13 planes on a straw-thatched village. From more than 200 bombs, the only casualty was a wounded chicken. At another place 800 bombs were dropped, two of them more than six feet long, with six human casualties. After those two attacks, an Ethiopian chieftain laughed and said:

"The more they bomb us the better we like it. We are not afraid of them; they do us no military damage and no property damage, and they are wasting money, of which we know Italy has little. Anybody should know that airplanes are effective only where troops are massed. Our troops are not massed. If every bomb hit a soldier, the Italians would have to drop 2,000,000 bombs to destroy us. And I know of an actual instance where one plane dropped 23 bombs in an unsuccessful effort to hit one soldier."

War is destructive and costly under any circumstances, but Italy's folly is a bit more obvious than usual.

COST OF LIVING.

Marlene Dietrich, the German film star, says she may have to go abroad and stay there, because taxes and the cost of living are so high in America. Americans will be very sorry for her. She explains:

"If America were my home I would not object to the high income tax. It is very discouraging to earn a large sum of money and have so little of it left. Rents here are very high. To get a house with a tennis court and a swimming pool, which are necessary for a child, I must pay at least $1,000 monthly. Once I paid $1,200. That was when I took Marion Davies' beach house—the doctor said Maria should be near the ocean."

"I have maintained six guards for two years. I pay

COURT SPLITS OVER SALARIES FOR DEPUTIES OF ASSESSOR-COLLECTOR

The commissioners court Monday afternoon completed its work of setting salaries of county officers and deputies.

The court split on the deputies salaries of the assessor and collector and County Judge C. E. McWilliams cast the deciding vote.

The salary of Melvin Penney as county treasurer was set at $1,200 per year.

The salaries of C. L. Knox, first assistant, and J. C. Roe, assistant criminal district attorney, were set at $200 and $100 per month respectively. The application presented by Criminal District Attorney John R. Curington called for $200 for Knox and $125 for Roe.

Salaries finally set by the court for the deputy assessors and collectors are as follows:

T. A. (Tom) Farmer, chief deputy, $125; R. S. Daniel, $100; Halie Blake, $85; Lemmer Pay Brown, $85; R. B. Mitchell, $110; W. A. Crews, $100; Andrew G. Steele, $100. The application asked for Farmer, $125; Daniel, $110; Blake, $100; Brown $80; Mitchell, $115; Crews and Steele, $110 each.

Commissioner Megarity made the motion for the reduction and it was seconded by Roberts and both for the measure. Commissioners J. Wesley Harris and A. W. McClung voted against the measure. Judge McWilliams cast the deciding vote with Megarity and Roberts. Megarity had stated that he was against the increase over the tentatively agreed schedule unless the salaries in all departments previously set Monday were annulled and each department given a chance to be heard.

Commissioner McWilliams said that since a "warranty" had come up, he favored going back to the 1935 salaries paid—a considerable reduction in the composite salary schedule adopted.

LYTLE PLANS NEW TRINITY SAND TEST IN MEXIA VICINITY

MEXIA, Jan. 14.—(Sp.)—C. F. Lytle, millionaire contractor of Sioux City, Iowa, and Mexia, Saturday announced plans for another deep test in the Mexia oil field. Operator of a test that went to Trinity sand depth two years ago without results, Mr. Lytle has not given up and now plans to erect a steel derrick 1050 feet east of the former test, on the J. L. Thompson lease, for another test.

Mr. Lytle's rig is in route to Mexia now, and will be installed and the work proceed immediately. He was assisted in the operation by a number of oil companies which have holdings in the Mexia oil field. While the other tests have been on structure west of the Mexia field, this test will be on the same leases where production is not coming from the Woodbine sands. Mr. Lytle reported almost without exception splendid co-operation on the part of property owners in that vicinity.

With $700,000 worth of building contracts in Longview and other points in Texas, and bids being made on many other construction projects, Mr. Lytle expects to be in Mexia much of the time and wants to try once more for the Trinity pay which he is confident will be found in that vicinity. He has backed his judgment with much expenditure in the past, and is ready to shoot again in an effort to get the oil from the deep formation.

Meanwhile reports were that David Johnson Crawford is near the bottom of the Ward No. 2, in the south Cedar Creek area, west of the Mexia field, attempting to find pay from depths where previous tests have found sand and gas formations.

New interest is seen in the Koss area where considerable blocking is going on, and the Luna area of Freestone county is getting a determined exploration, with a test by Haley and Young on the Jack Eppes farm nearing completion.

MIDLOTHIAN MAN NAMED PRESIDENT PRODUCTION CREDIT

LOCAL ASSOCIATION COM- POSED OF NAVARRO, ELLIS AND HILL COUNTIES

Officers were elected at a meeting of the directors of the Corsicana Production Credit Association held at the Carnegie Library auditorium Wednesday afternoon following the conclusion of the open meeting of the stockholders. Conference and discussion of various phases of the work, plans for the 1936 business, and other details occupied several hours time.

J. P. Bellow of Midlothian, Ellis county, the only hold-over director, was elected president. Successor, J. N. Edens of Corsicana, was made vice president. R. A. Caldwell and Wade J. Price, both of Corsicana, were re-elected secretary-treasurer and assistant secretary-treasurer, respectively.

The Corsicana Production Credit Association is composed of Navarro, Hill and Ellis counties.

Several short addresses were made at the afternoon session. After the resignation of J. N. Edens of Corsicana, president, and director, B. L. Sanders, Corsicana, director, had been presented and accepted, four new directors were elected as follows: W. B. Coates, Kereens, one year; Guy R. Love, Corsicana, two years; George W. Craig, Hillsboro, and Fred White, Corsicana, three years each.

Federal Official Present.

C. Gorman, Washington, D. C., Production Credit Administration, addressed the meeting and stated there were 550 similar associations in the United States. There are 200,000 farmers and stockmen with $200,000,000 loans this year.

"Most of the associations have made more progress toward the complete owning of the stock of the organizations than this one," Gorman stated.

The Carnegie library management was thanked for the use of the auditorium.

The 1936 goal for the local association, composed of Navarro, Ellis and Hill counties, was set as follows:

Members: 500; loans, $150,000; income, $8,740; expenses, $6,233; earnings to add to reserves, $2,517; per cent of the capital stock owned by members, 6 per cent.

John H. Rugel of the corporation headquarters in Houston, discussing the association status under the recent adverse decision of the United States Supreme Court, declared that the farm credit associations would continue to make sound and conservative loans as in the past.

Mr. Rugel urged the members and others to discourage any radical acreage increase and stressed co-operation as the need for the common good of the agricultural interests.

The directors elected the following officers:

B. L. Sanders, chairman of the board; C. M. Newton, president; C. O. Weaver, vice president; J. F. Smith, cashier; and J. E. Davis, assistant cashier.

Progress Reported On South Navarro County Oil Test

WORTHAM, Jan. 16.—(Spl.)—The Peyton Rushing No. 1, located in Navarro county, four miles northwest of Wortham, is reported as a depth of around 2800 feet and in Eagle Ford shale. Preparation is in progress to make a test at base of this strata. Austin chalk was struck at 2100 feet and still was out at 2400. The drilling of this well is watched with much interest, as it is only 60 feet from the incomplete Rushing-Keeling No. 1, which made an interesting showing.

District Clerk's Office.

The following case was filed: Mrs. Virginia Brown Waters vs. Luther W. Waters, divorce.

Assessor and Collector's Office.

Roll tax payments at the present time are extremely slow, according to an announcement Thursday morning by R. L. Harris, assessor and collector of taxes for Navarro county. Mr. Harris had anticipated a considerable larger number of roll tax payments than have been seen due to the fact that this is election year from constable to president, and also due to the likelihood of a prohibition election during 1936.

Mr. Harris called the attention of the motorists to the new drivers' license law which will become effective Feb. 14. Everyone driving a car must have a license and Harris estimates there will be 20,000 in Navarro county. Persons from 14 to 18 years of age must have the endorsement of their parents before a license will be issued.

Sheriff's Office.

Odis Roberts of Fairfield was charged by complaint with transportation and possession of whiskey for the purpose of sale Thursday morning in the county court by Sheriff Rufus Pevcheff.

The complaint was filed in connection with the arrest of Roberts on East Fifth avenue late Wednesday by Sheriff Pevcheff and Deputy Sheriff Jack Floyd and the seizure of 49 gallons of corn whiskey and an automobile.

The negro was arrested here several days ago by city police and was transferred to the constable's department in connection with the alleged theft of a diamond ring valued at $170 and $7 in a purse from a car at Kereens recently.

One was fined on a charge of disturbing the peace Wednesday by Judge Bryant.

Two negroes were fined on vagrancy charges Wednesday by Judge W. T. McFadden.

SEEKING TO IMPROVE CONDITION COTTAGE USED BY CAMP FIRE

Mrs. Gladys Kinsolving, Camp Fire executive, with the help of other members of the Camp Fire organization, is making an effort to have the Camp Fire cottage on the Sam Houston school grounds, spruced up some. The building belongs to the school board, but some time ago was turned over to Camp Fire for its use, needs repairing.

Just recently Mrs. R. B. Molloy donated hedge plants for the yard and had them planted. This act was greatly appreciated by Camp Fire. The executive says the need of a piano is great, and asks anyone with a piano not in use who would like to fill this need, to let her know.

The building needs a new roof, new paint, new wallpaper, new windows, etc., to put it in first-class condition. Recently the cottage has been the scene of much Camp Fire activity and it is planned to use the cottage even more in the future for all sorts of activities, both by the girls, the executive and the guardians.

Camp Fire has had a part at the recent Tiger Loyalty banquet, the Camp Fire Girls, free of cost and as an act of service, checked hats and coats in a very efficient manner, then at the Jackson Day banquet the guardians took over this task, also doing a fine piece of work.

The guardians were very efficient for their work and the money they earned was turned in to recent Christmas activities for the girls of the organization.

Transfer Bankhead
Certificates to Be Made Until Feb. 17

Telegraphic authorization was received Wednesday by A. P. Coston, Bankhead administrator for Navarro county, to continue the exchange of Bankhead certificates, and also to accept excess certificates for the national pool through Friday, January 17.

He was informed that notices of such transfers or acceptances must be postmarked by the administrators not later than the 17th. All such activities were halted by telegraphic orders several days ago, and were not resumed until Wednesday afternoon.

Commissioner Precinct No. 2.

To the Democratic Voters of Precinct 2:

I am taking this means of advising my friends in the precinct that I am a candidate for re-election to a second term as Commissioner for Navarro county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary. For two years I have served the people of this district with diligence and earnest consideration. It has been my purpose at all times to serve the whole public of my precinct and my official record is open for your inspection.

In all matters coming before the commissioner's court I have acted with the interests of the people of the district as my guiding motif. Every decision that has been made by me and every vote I have cast in the court has been with this thought in mind.

The people of Precinct No. 2 have benefited materially through the projects of the Works Progress Administration, because I have personally interested myself in securing projects for my precinct. We have WPA jobs under construction or soon to be started in every section of this precinct which will take care of practically every employable person. My precinct stands alone in this respect as an examination of the projects operating in Navarro county will show.

The financial condition of the precinct and the condition and number of pieces of road equipment on hand are open for your inspection. I have handled the business of Precinct No. 2 even more carefully than I would my own business, and I feel like the voters who care to examine my record as commissioner will approve my actions.

Senior Class Powell High School Erected Flagpole at School

POWELL, Jan. 16.—(Spl.)—The senior class of the Powell high school has contributed a flagpole to the school as a memorial for the class. As the selected colors of the class are blue and silver, the flagpole was painted silver and in all other respects of the color scheme worked out marvelously.

A student committee comprised of members of the class wrote jokes and an abridged history of each senior's past activities while in high school here. This brief history, with the jokes and pictures, was shaped into book form. The book was made by the class on talent, with attractive silver letters emblazoned upon the blue background which was in the shape of the map of Texas.

After this book was compiled by the class, it was placed in a reserved opening designated for such. It was then sealed up in the concrete foundation by the name plate, which bore the inscription, "Senior Class 1935-1936."

JAPAN DECLARES NO INTENTION STARTING NAVAL BUILDING RACE

FOUR POWERS WILL CONTINUE EFFORTS TO LIMIT SIZES OF FLEETS

By Lloyd Leirbas
Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press
LONDON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Japan disavowed frankly today any intention of precipitating a costly competition in fleet construction, despite its historic self-elimination from international naval affairs. While its withdrawal from the five-power naval conference was being communicated officially to the delegates and the other four powers drafted plans to continue their efforts to achieve limitations, Japan's chief delegate, Admiral Otsami Nagano, announced:

"Japan has no intention of engaging in a naval arms race. In the absence of a limitation agreement, and I sincerely hope no competition in building of warships will develop between Japan and the United States."

William Phillips, United States undersecretary of state, also decided to leave after today's session of the depleted conference, and to return to his home and deliver a first-hand report of the developments to President Roosevelt.

Admiral Nagano announced his delegation's withdrawal from the conference in an official statement last night, but the other delegates' first formal information of the move was contained in a Japanese note to Viscount Matsuoka, first lord of the British admiralty.

The conference was called to reconvene today to hear this communication. Delegates and experts of the United States, Britain, France and Italy decided then to survey the wreckage of the conference, caused by the Japanese withdrawal, and to determine their next move in an attempt to reach a fleet limitations agreement on a four-power basis.

The Japanese delegation arranged to leave as observer Kojima, Fuji, counsellor of the Japanese embassy in London, and Captain Yasutaro Iwashita of the Japanese naval general staff.

COMPLETE PANTRY EXHIBIT SHOWN AT CHAMBER COMMERCE

A pantry exhibit containing a complete food supply for a family of five for one year is now on display at the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce as a result of efforts by members of several home demonstration clubs.

All types of vegetables, fruits, meats, preserves, and jellies are included in the display, and it is estimated that only a small amount of staple groceries would be needed to augment the stock to insure a balanced menu for a family throughout the year.

The display is located in the front of the chamber building and may be seen from the street. A cordial invitation has been extended to the general public to inspect the exhibit.

Among the clubs co-operating were Eureka, Emhouse, Blue Ridge, and the Elroy, Jones Ranch, Whites Chapel, Tupelo, Richland, Finch, Navarro, and Rice.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The sum of $55,000,000, in AAA processing taxes put in escrow by Chicago packers, was ordered returned to them today by Federal Judge John P. Barnes.

Ten millions were piled up when the packers won temporary injunctions some months ago restraining the government from collecting.

An attempt to force the packers to disburse the money to the farmers who produced the livestock was made today but failed.

An attorney representing E. E. Mateson, Ladora, la. farmer, and Mateson Brothers, Chicago commission shippers, filed a petition requiring the packers to bring their books to court.

NATIONAL GRANGE SUBMITS TEN-POINT FARMING PROGRAM

FARM SENTIMENT CRYSTALLIZING AGAINST QUESTIONABLE LEGAL AAA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The National Grange, dean of organized farm groups in America, submitted to the senate agricultural committee today a 10-point program for a new national plan to replace AAA.

Grange officials said it represented a crystallizing of farm sentiment against a constitutionally questionable rewriting of AAA to control agriculture production through subsidized soil conservation.

In the first definite break with administration plans to draft a bill retaining AAA principles along with the new conservation program, the Grange asked congress to provide:

1. Appropriation to provide for the completion of contracts entered into in good faith and partially carried out by American farmers.

2. Soil conservation program through wise rotation of crops and through systems of conservation, rental to build up national resources.

3. Speed up the retirement of marginal and sub-marginal lands for foresting, conservation, recreational and wild life uses.

4. Retain and expand the surplus commodity corporation to deal with agricultural surpluses by the following means:

(A) Maintain an ever-normal granary by farm storage and commodity loans.

(B) Export surpluses, using the export debenture and other measures best suited.

(C) Provide new and industrial uses for farm produce with special attention to by-products.

(D) Develop new crops and new markets.

(E) Furnish relief supplies.

BEAUTIFICATION OF CITY PLANNED BY ORGANIZATIONS

DEFINITE SURVEYS TO INAUGURATE THOROUGH CAMPAIGN IMMEDIATELY

After surveying the beautification and clean-up needs of Corsicana in thorough fashion, representatives of various civic and service organizations of the city have organized a committee composed of the presidents of these groups Monday afternoon to formulate a definite program and inaugurate a thorough campaign without loss of time or effort.

Mrs. J. M. Tullis, chairman of the county-wide beautification committee, presided at the meeting held in the corporation court room of the city hall, and briefly outlined the need of an active campaign, and enumerated some of the problems which had been encountered in the past.

County Superintendent G. H. Brown was asked for an outline of his plans. The school executive committee also was asked to make to have some beautification work done at each rural school, and particularly to those along the main highways. About twenty beautification projects were participated in last year's campaign.

Lowry Martin, business manager of the Corsicana Sun-Light paper, stated that the group could coordinate the efforts, and emphasized the magnitude of the task, and stressed the need of a definite program and then concerted action by a united community and county.

Co-operation Promised.
Speaking for the Corsicana Lions Club, President W. H. Norwood stated that the group could coordinate the efforts, and emphasized the magnitude of the task, and stressed the need of a definite program and then concerted action by a united community and county.

Roy Peebles, president of the Corsicana Citizens Club, called attention to the unsightly condition of garbage cans along the curbs all during the week, the disreputable appearance of many of the vacant buildings, and the junk piles along the highways, and the dirtiness of the alleys in the business district.

Dr. L. E. Kelton, Jr., promised the co-operation and support of the medical profession in the project.

Mrs. Wade Smith recounted the efforts of one of the garden clubs to beautify the underpass on Highway 75, near the northern city limits, reporting that because of no assistance could be secured after numerous plantings had been made. She also reported that cattle had frequently been staked out on the highway, and in many cases, tied to the crops, mangle and redoubt trees set out along the highway.

A resolutions committee composed of Lowry Martin, chairman, Mrs. Wade Smith and Sydney Marks, was named to draft suitable representations to be presented to state highway department officials in an effort to secure assistance often promised but seldom delivered in the past.

E. W. Ellis, president of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce, announced the suggestion made for the improvement of conditions along the federal highway and pointed out that little time remained for its development in an effort to have the highway completed, that property owners along the highway from Rice to Richland be contacted, more than once if necessary, in an effort to get them to put their premises in good order.

Campaign Planned.
He suggested that for quick action an executive committee be organized, composed of the heads of the various civic and service organizations, with the presidents of those units empowered to name a representative if they were unable to serve, to survey the work to be done, draft a definite program, and then secure the necessary co-operation and assistance to complete it.

The motion was immediately adopted, and Mr. Ellis named as general chairman, with A. F. Mitchell as secretary.

W. P. McCammon, president of the school grounds had been planted as heavily as possible, and that every effort was being made now to protect and develop previous plantings. He promised the co-operation of the schools and said that the children could do a fine job of selling the campaign once a definite program was adopted.

He suggested that it would be wiser to stop planting and devote efforts to saving what plants have survived, and that efforts be directed toward cleanups at the present.

Rev. E. T. Miller, secretary of the Corsicana Ministerial Association, complimented the suggestions made, and said that a plan of work by which a great amount of work had been accomplished in another community. The committee took the plan under advisement, and indicated that it would probably be used when the definite program is completed.

Mrs. Gladys Kinsolving, Camp Fire executive, promised the support of her girls groups in any possible way in the campaign.

The meeting was adjourned after plans were made for an early survey of conditions along Highway 75 inside the city limits, with the announcement that a full meeting of the executive committee would be called as soon as the data was available for their consideration.

Word was received here by relatives Thursday morning of the death of Mrs. Shelly Goodman in an automobile accident in Shreveport, yesterday, but details of the accident or funeral arrangements had not been learned at press hour.

Mrs. and Mrs. Goodman lived in Shreveport, which is also the home of Mr. Goodman's parents, and it is likely the funeral will be there. Note Goodman left about 9 o'clock this morning for the Louisiana city to be with his brother and family. Shelly Goodman was born and grew to manhood in Corsicana.

Deranged Mother Beats Her Three Children Death

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Apparently becoming temporarily deranged, Mrs. Joseph Oberle beat her three children to death with a three-foot pin bar while they slept early today, and then tried to kill herself.

The tragedy was discovered by Dr. S. LeRoy Barber after he had been summoned by telephone to the hospital in a critical condition.

She was alone in the home with the children overnight. Her husband, who is head of the Chester County Farm Extension Farm Association, was in State College, Pa., on business trip.

Police headquarters said Dr. Barber reported Mrs. Oberle had lost her mind temporarily.

Dr. Barber found Mrs. Oberle on the dining room floor, moaning. Her clothing was covered with blood and a telephone cord was twisted tightly about her neck, the physician said.

EFFECT OF BANKHEAD ACT ON PRODUCTION OF COTTON UNKNOWN

AAA OFFICIALS INDICATE THEY WILL CONTINUE TO ADMINISTER LAW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The Bankhead act for cotton production control still on the books, attention centered today on the year's crop prospects.

While AAA officials indicated they would proceed to administer the act, there were some expressions of doubt as to how effective this would prove as a deterrent of over-production, as a result of the invalidation of the farm program.

Commenting on the supreme court's dismissal of the Lee Mow test case yesterday, Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) said that administration of his act by the power to save a serious crop situation for this year.

The AAA had planned a cut of 30 to 45 per cent in 1936 cotton acreage, with an estimated crop of 11 to 12 million bales. After the AAA decision, Secretary Wallace said lack of restriction might mean a crop of 16 million bales.

"With the Bankhead act still in effect," said Senator Bankhead, "it is hoped that a price-increasing acreage will not be planted in view of the possibility of the tax being applied on cotton in excess of allotments that may be made."

Under the law, the agriculture secretary will establish national allotment for 1936 cotton sales, and individual quotas will then be established. All cotton ginned and sold in excess of these allotments is taxable at half the market value.

One AAA official said that if a small allotment were set and no arrangements were made for curtailment, the government might save a serious crop situation for this year.

Continued active support and financial assistance of the farm program in Navarro county was authorized by the directors of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce at their regular meeting Tuesday morning after they had been informed that all workers had been summarily dismissed following the invalidating of the AAA by the supreme court.

Committees were also named by President E. W. Ellis to aid in the completion of the work of the fiscal year and make plans for the annual meeting. The committees follow:

Auditing: H. W. Regester, N. Suttle Roberts, and J. N. Garitty.

Annual meeting: C. C. Roberts, chairman; W. P. McCammon, Herb Jacobs.

Nominating: Ted B. Ferguson, chairman; Jay A. Silverberg, C. L. Foster, James Cerf, and Lowry Martin.

DR. FRED B. OWEN NAMED PRESIDENT OF COUNTRY CLUB

ANNUAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS HELD; PLAN EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS

Three new directors and officers for the ensuing year were elected at the annual stockholders meeting of the Corsicana Country Club Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Arrangements were announced for extensive improvements at the club house along with the decision to purchase new equipment for the maintenance of the golf course.

J. N. Garitty, John C. Calhoun and Ralph R. Brown are the new directors elected to succeed T. J. Hickey, E. B. Walker and Ted B. Ferguson whose three year terms have expired.

Dr. Fred B. Owen, vice president in 1935, was elected president to succeed Mayor J. S. Murchison. J. N. Garitty was named vice president and Charlie Holloway was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Holdover directors are Ed M. Polk, Jr., W. A. Lang, J. S. Murchison, E. B. McKie, Fred B. Owen and Charlie Holloway.

Officials announced that 1935 was a fine year and that the prospects for 1936 were bright.

J. N. Garitty presided at the meeting Monday night.

President Owen announced the following committee chairmen, who will name the remaining members of their respective committees:

House—Ralph R. Brown. Grounds—Charlie Holloway. Lake—F. B. McKie. Finance—John C. Calhoun. Tournament—W. A. Lang.

be made to inform the entire community and the community of the work done by the organization, and enlist wider financial support.

The nominating committee will present suggestions for seven new directors of the chamber. Two additional directors will be named by the incoming president.

A capacity attendance at the soy bean banquet to be held Tuesday night in connection with the conference sponsored by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce was reported.

After a report was received from C. C. Roberts, county agent, that all activities in connection with the farm program of the federal government had been halted, and the workers dismissed, the directors approved a motion to continue the financial support of the program in order to complete the contracts remaining and aid if possible in securing the $50,000 yet due Navarro county producers.

Catholics Defy Mex Government In School Order

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The Roman Catholic Church openly defied the Mexican government's socialistic education law today in a pastoral letter forbidding church members to allow their children to attend socialistic schools.

The pastoral, signed by all archbishops and bishops in Mexico, declared:

"No Catholic can be a socialist, understanding for socialism any system which neither recognizes the rights of God and the Church nor the right of all men to possess goods acquired by legitimate work or inheritance."

It declared persons sending their children to socialistic schools were guilty of a mortal sin.

SENATOR SHEPPARD MAKES ANNIVERSARY TALK PROHIBITION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Beverage alcohol today was described as "Public Enemy Number One" by Senator Sheppard (D-Tex.), author of the prohibition amendment, in an address to the senate on the 16th anniversary of the amendment's enactment.

Conforming to annual custom, Sheppard took the floor to say: "Beverage alcohol undermines the moral, mental and physical strength of multiplying millions and thus cripples the foundations of democracy, self government and progress. It imperils liberty because liberty is the power to choose the right and to take advantage of opportunity."

"An article whose consumption impairs this power through the corruption of the strings of thought and energy, of health and will, as does this liquid poison, is a destroyer of liberty and its tolerances, not an emblem of freedom."

Gray and thin faced, Sheppard was on to say that "occurrences since the passage of the eighteenth amendment have shown that the dangers of the liquor traffic to the nation have multiplied with the disappearance of national prohibition."

In this connection he predicted that the number of motor accidents in 1936, due to liquor, would be found to have equalled the number in 1935 despite widespread safety campaigns.

SENATOR NORRIS OF OPINION PRODUCTION CONTROL IS ILLEGAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, predicted after a luncheon with President Roosevelt today that a new farm program to replace AAA would be ready for congressional consideration by the end of the week.

He declined to express an opinion as to what the program would be.

"It is felt that within a few days, probably by the end of the week, a draft of legislation relating to the AAA will be completed and ready for submission," he said.

"Work on the draft is in progress. I will not attempt to announce its provisions."

He said he was not informed whether the president would submit a special message to congress. Earlier in the day Senator Norris (R-Neb) bluntly expressed to farm leaders a view that no law regulating agricultural production many statistics and police records in various localities to substantiate this view.

"Beverage alcohol and auto driving do not mix," he continued. Asserting there are now about 200,000 retail outlets as contrasted with 177,700 saloons when prohibition was made law, he said that "it must be conceded that no less than 50 per cent of distilled spirits was not being taxed" during 1935. He placed the illicit production of liquor at around 271,623,000 gallons during the year.

Another point was that "woman have become patrons in such number and with such persistence that the word, 'feminine barfly' has already become a shameful addition to our language."

He quoted figures from the Keely Institute that "drinking among women has increased materially since repeal."

Gray and thin faced, Sheppard was on to say that "occurrences since the passage of the eighteenth amendment have shown that the dangers of the liquor traffic to the nation have multiplied with the disappearance of national prohibition."

In this connection he predicted that the number of motor accidents in 1936, due to liquor, would be found to have equalled the number in 1935 despite widespread safety campaigns.

would be held constitutional in the light of the supreme court's AAA decision.

His opinion was given at a senate agriculture committee meeting summoned to hear farm views on AAA's replacement. The large committee room, jammed with farmers, became suddenly silent, when Norris said:

"I don't believe it possible to pass any law that in any way regulates agricultural production that would be held constitutional. 'I hate to say it.'"

Earl Smith of the Illinois Farm Bureau Federation was the witness at the time.

Norris expressed "entire agreement" with the recommendations of the farm group—made to the administration Saturday—that soil conservation and domestic allotments be the basis of a new program.

"I think the decision was wrong, absolutely wrong," Norris said. "I thought the act was constitutional and think so yet."

He was applauded loudly. Norris asked Smith: "You feel crop production must be regulated?"

Smith nodded affirmatively. "But," the Nebraskan went on, "the court says in so many words 'regulation of agriculture is unconstitutional.' You don't have to be a lawyer to see that point."

"The supreme court has appellate jurisdiction with such exceptions as congress may provide."

Could Pass Law.
"We could pass a law by which we could take away jurisdiction over this subject for the lower courts and providing say, that a supreme court decision on this must be unanimous."

"Then the decision of a week ago would have been just the opposite."

Norris gave no immediate indication, however, he planned to press for such a statute.

Sam Everson, president of the National Farmers' Union, asked for enactment of the Frazier-Lemke bill to refinance farm indebtedness.

The measure, now in house committee, would provide for high expansion, a $3,000,000,000 revolving fund.

Suggestions Be Ready Soon.
A round of applause greeted Lewis T. Hays, head of the National Grange, who said a series of suggestions for legislation would be given the committee within a few days.

Soviet Military Budget Is Almost Doubled for Year

MOSCOW, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The Soviet Union's military budget for 1936 was announced tonight at 14,800,000,000 rubles as compared with 8,200,000,000 spent last year.

(At the new rate of exchange, the military expenditure next year will approximate $3,108,000,000.)

The total government budget will be 78,500,000,000 rubles, Commissar of Finance Grinko announced.

FOUR PLEAD GUILTY ROBBERY-KIDNAPING IN FT. SMITH CASE

PORT SMITH, Ark., Jan. 14.—(AP)—The trial of four Irish O'Malley gangsters came to an abrupt conclusion today when the quarantined pleaded guilty to indictments charging them with the $22,000 robbery of the City National Bank of Fort Smith and the kidnapping of a motorist as they fled.

The four will be sentenced at 2:30 p. m. today.

Dewey Gilmore, a native of Missouri, was the first of the defendants to reverse a former plea and formally admit his guilt.

Others to be sentenced for their part in the bank robbery-kidnaping are Floyd Y. Henderson, former Joplin, Mo. miner; Russell Cooper, Fort Smith, and Otto Jackson, Kansas City.

WIFE OF FORMER CORSICANAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

IN PRESENTING THIS PROGRAM OF "FIRMS WHO BELIEVE IN CORSICANA AND NAVARRO COUNTY," THE CORSICANA DAILY SUN AND THE CORSICANA SEMI-WEEKLY LIGHT ALSO GIVES TO ITS READERS, THE TWELFTH OF A SERIES OF ARTICLES IN WHICH IT IS PROPOSED TO DEAL WITH THE INDUSTRIAL, EDUCATIONAL, AGRICULTURAL, AND OTHER ADVANTAGES THAT ARE TO BE FOUND HERE.

Community Planning and Its Results

A community comes, usually, the result of definite planning. Perhaps not always as we plan, but nevertheless the result of a degree of planning.

Therefore, the community with the best chance for the future is that which plans ahead, and then backs its plans. Schools, right now, need planning to accommodate the increase, to provide for the changing ideas in teaching, and the shifts in population. Modern buildings, modern staffs and better equipment are needed. Some planning for paying off debts also is important. Churches grow as they plan, organizations are the result of somebody's plan, and the institutions of the future are the plans of today.

Businesses need architects, too, for those which plan ahead have a better chance at expansion than those which are complete to start.

Everything starts in the mind of the architect. The world is the result of God's ideas, and man was made in His own image, an image conceived as the ideal. American government came the result of courage and planning, and its development will come along lines the planners have in mind.

The individual becomes, largely, what he pre-conceives for himself.

Our Chamber of Commerce plan for the future of their communities. Our government agencies, such as commissioners courts, city commissions and boards of various kinds, may fulfill their functions with routine work, not planning ahead or thinking ahead, but if they are to see their communities rise instead of fall they will think and look ahead, and act for the future.

The community must forge ahead. Therefore it needs not only community planners, but a unified program of development that will challenge its own people and attract newcomers to this land which is so nearly typically Texas.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

MISS FORBES tells you today the only safe and sane way to get rid of superfluous hair on the face and on the body. Incidentally, her method costs nothing.

The problem of superfluous hair is not such a difficult one during these winter days. The under-arm must be kept free of hair, and the only safe and sane way to do this is to use a safety razor. The woman who uses a depilatory on the super-sensitive skin of the armpit is running a very great and foolish risk. Ordinarily, once or twice a week is enough to use the razor.

E. K. Forbes

If you read of any preparation that permanently removes hair, don't you believe it and don't you buy it. These things used to be made out of strong chemicals—varium, calcium, and sodium sulphide among them. These chemicals were used in tanneries for taking the hair off hide. They dissolve the hair; given half a chance, they often dissolve the skin, a process which causes irritation, frequently infection, and in one or two cases resulted in blindness and disfigurement. These things take hair only from the surface, a process which soap and a safety razor accomplish safely, effectively, in a fraction of the time and at no cost at all.

There are waxes which pull out the hair. Warm, soft wax goes on the hair, cools, hardens, and when torn off, tears out the hair. It's not very pleasant, and often it's painful, and, unfortunately, most of the hairs grow in again. In the case of fuzz above the lip it is far better really to bleach it frequently with peroxide and ammonia. It should eventually weaken and kill it. Large hairs should be pulled out separately.

with tweezers and the skin made antiseptic with peroxide. Persistence in pulling out hairs will have its own reward, for in time the big hairs will cease to come in. But this is only for eyebrows and chin and hair above the lip; the safety razor will take care of all the rest. If you use it carefully, the emery board mitten will keep down the fuzz on the arms.

M. C. C.—I shall be glad to send you any of the formulas you wish, if you forward a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the mailing. I am glad to hear that you enjoy the talks and find them helpful to you.

A. H.—There may be so many reasons why a person gets what is known as a "nightmare" that it would be impossible to be definite in giving any information. One thing is certain; some trouble causes an interference with the circulation. Indigestion causes these attacks with some persons, mental disturbance will do it with others, but generally they show a physical disturbance that may easily be corrected. You might consult the doctor about your tonsils to be sure these are not giving you the trouble, but while your tonsils should not be poisoning your system, it is hardly possible they are giving you these attacks. Your digestion, at least your circulation, should be healthy; and it is well, if you do not go off to sleep fearful lest you have a recurrence of the attacks that night. That is not so easy at this time, so have a doctor diagnose your physical condition and give you an assurance that you are in good health. There should not be any serious cause for the disturbance.

REPRIEVE

man's petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Mrs. Hauptmann heard of the reprieve in a hotel room about one block from the statehouse.

Wonderful Says Wife.
"That is wonderful," she exclaimed. "I can only wish that the real truth of the terrible Lindbergh kidnapping comes out, that the terrible people who did this thing will either come before the governor or that they will be caught."

One of the two prosecution witnesses who placed Hauptmann at the scene of the Lindbergh kidnapping, and who hoped to see him executed tomorrow night, took the reprieve philosophy.

Amanda Hochmuth, 87, who swore he saw Hauptmann with the kidnap ladder in his car near the Lindbergh estate, was waiting at the office of Attorney General David T. Wilentz for news of the execution when he heard the news.

"Well," he said, "I guess I'll have to go home again. But any time will suit me."

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 16. (AP)—An appeal to the United States supreme court and a statement from a high source that there had been a "confession" in the Lindbergh case, gave Bruno Richard Hauptmann new hope to escape the electric chair tomorrow night.

The court action, requiring only a writ of habeas corpus, was taken by two of Hauptmann's five attorneys at Washington. There was no decision by the court. A decision could be deferred until tomorrow.

The lawyers asked for a writ of habeas corpus for Hauptmann, a stay of execution pending a hearing on such a writ.

No mention was made in the application of a confession or new evidence. What a difference largely on allegations made in unsuccessful proceedings in a federal circuit court at Trenton Tuesday.

The information concerning a confession came from a source close to the federal figure in the case was: "There has been a confession, and it is by some one other than Bruno Richard Hauptmann." In some official quarters there was much skepticism as to the merits of such a confession.

No Confession Known.
Governor Harold G. Hoffman's office here said the governor had "no knowledge of a confession."

The governor, who has not been at his office for several days, was said to be in New York in conferences the nature of which were kept secret but which were presumed to be in connection with the Lindbergh case, in which the governor has shown marked interest.

Mayor La Guardia's secretary said that the governor was expected to attend a conference in the mayor's office this afternoon.

The department of justice, Col. J. Edgar Hoover of the department of justice, head of the man Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police, and Lewis J. Valentine, New York City commissioner of police, the purpose of the conference was not disclosed.

Hoover said he was unable to throw any light on any confession Hauptmann might have made.

No Decision Yet.
Governor Hoffman's press aide, William Conklin, after saying the governor had no knowledge of a confession, added that the governor had made no decision as to a reprieve.

Before the governor also was a new affidavit by Samuel Small, a professional penman of New York, to the effect that Hauptmann had not said the Lindbergh case was a "hoax" as he had written in the ransom note which was a great factor in the conviction of the Bronx carpenter at his trial at Flemington. Small drew his conclusion from general methods of writing.

Another governor, Horner of Illinois, came into the case today. Chicago advices said that Gov. Horner was looking into the story of a Chicago bricklayer prisoner that he had been offered $22,000 worth of the Lindbergh ransom money at 40 cents on the dollar and that he had taken some and distributed it "here and there."

A conference was held this morning in the office of Attorney General David T. Wilentz here. Present besides the attorney general were a prosecutor, Anthony J. Hawk, Jr. of Hunterdon county (of which Flemington is the seat), Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the state police, and Special Attorney General Robert Peacock, who assisted in the prosecution of Hauptmann.

The attorney general said the Hauptmann case was discussed, but that the conference was not called specifically to consider it.

Wilentz added that he had no knowledge of any confession in the case.

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann went to the prison in the morning and her husband, Prison officials said that today would be her last chance to see her husband before the execution.

The small son, Manfred, was brought to Trenton from New York during the night, but was not taken to the prison.

Card of Thanks.
Not being able to see each one personally, we are taking this means to try to express our thanks for the kindness shown us during the sickness and death of our husband and father, James E. Graham. Especially do we thank our neighbors for their untiring help and the carpenters for their kindly aid.

When trials such as ours come to you may you have the same blessings and may God reward each and every one is our prayer.—Mrs. J. E. Graham and Children.

FRIEDLAND, Calif., Jan. 16. (AP)—The bodies of R. M. Talbot, amateur pilot, and Roscoe Howard, trucking company official, were found today in their wrecked airplane in Fachecho Pass, 125 miles north of Los Angeles.

The plane apparently crashed into a mountain side while returning here from San Francisco.

TRANSCEND POLITICAL ISSUES *

Things That Count Most In Life Are Those Affecting Individual Character --- Sharing Man's Common Lot, Jesus Grappled With Fundamental Temptations.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Newspapers make much of politics and of world affairs; but readers are far more interested in their own personal problems, most of which have to do with character and conduct. Indeed, if we reason the matter through, we see that these individual questions are really basic, too, and determinative of the supposedly larger political issues. That was shown dramatically when the republicans of the peace proposed a counter to the sense of the British people, and the government was obliged to reverse itself.

Push the theme to its limit, and we find that what goes on in the minds of men or women is the ultimate force in life. That is why moral questions must always be supreme. It is folly to suppose that whatever happens to the character of a single person is without significance to the general welfare. Nobody has a right to do as he pleases, when the fate of society is at stake.

What if Jesus Had Fallen?
Forever dramatic for the fundamental question of the temptations of the individual. Suppose Jesus had yielded to temptation? He could have yielded; for the temptation was a real and soul-crushing experience, and He was tempted by the same forces that tempt every man.

What a difference! What a difference to the history of the world! 2000 years would have been had Mary's Son succumbed to the power and insidious wiles of Satan!

One reason we have not more great men to lead us in this era of dire need is that so many have succumbed to one or more of the three major temptations of the evil one. It is moral character we need today more than intellectual subtlety.

Jesus conquered the devil by His power that is not at the command of every Christian. And His example is a thundering indictment of the weak-willed modern mood which discards the old meaning of temptation, and regards every beguilement and impulse as an opportunity for new experiences. Temptation is temptation, evil-tempted, and it comes to every human being on occasion for the victory of the spiritual over the carnal.

As For The Devil.
There were two actors in this awesome drama in the wilderness—which was perhaps the gorges of the Jordan river, the shores of the Dead Sea, and the desolate mountains south of Jerusalem. The first, of course, was Jesus, fresh from His ecstatic experience of baptism by John in the Jordan, and of heavenly recognition of His mission. The second actor was the devil, who drove Him into the wilderness to "tempt Him." All of His exquisite sensitiveness was taut. A modern psychologist could explain the peril of reaction after such a tense and exalted mood. As was wont, Jesus turned to the silence and prayer. Forty days for peace and prayer. Forty days He continued amidst the desolation which He shared only with the jackals and other wild creatures.

But Satan was there also. Nowdays it is wholly unfashionable to believe in the devil. High-born laughed at Billy Sunday's constant personification of devil. Yet Billy, like Jesus, had Scripture and experience to support his belief. He said: "I know there is a devil, because the Bible tells me so, and because I've seen him with my own eyes." In the light of what has been going on in the world, and of what every day's newspaper reveals, we are forced to accept the alternative of a diabolical human nature, or of some agency, outside of man, who incites to evil. I prefer to believe that Satan is still doing his business with men, working in the shadows of the world.

And it is always possible as the temptation of Jesus makes clear, to resist and overcome the devil. The weapons employed by the Master are ready at every Christian's hand. One writer has epitomized the situation specifically to consider it: "Today men believe in God with-out serving Him, and serve Satan without believing in him."

The Bread and Butter Question.
As a clever fighter, Satan always attacks at the weakest point. He found Jesus physically hungry and nervous, exhausted. So he adroitly suggested that He prove His character by turning stones into bread. What could be wrong in that?

Of late years government's have had to face the food issue. Confessedly, more than twenty-five hundred persons against the first business of government is to feed the people. Failure here is a collapse of civilization.

Jesus never denied this. His reply to the tempter was Scripture's "Man shall not live by bread alone." There was the big blunder of the twentieth century, the assumption that material gratification comes first and is all sufficient. Dire events are demonstrating that a purely material civilization will not work. Our deepest need today is for an awakening of spiritual consciousness.

The Greatest Compromise.
Every business man, every public leader, every ambitious youth, can well understand the significance of the second temptation of Jesus, when Satan offered him the kingdoms of the world in return for the fulfillment of His mission by way of compromise. He showed the TYLER, Jan. 16. (AP)—Judgment of $460,000, the value of 400 barrels of allegedly "hot" oil, was given by a federal court jury today in the Johnson-Tarkenton case against Lee H. Gray of Tyler, the Urania Oil and Pipeline company, L. W. and Woodie L. Harkenton and James M. Murray.

Mrs. Mary Marshall of Wichita Falls and Miss Genevieve Woods of Dallas receive $134,000 each from Gray, the pipeline company and the Tarkenton brothers. They shall also receive about $8,000 from Murray and Miss Woods about $239.

The women, who financed drilling of the Johnson-Tarkenton well at Gladewater, are operators for the "hot" oil. Each owned a one-third interest in the well.

Miss Onelda Johnson and her sister, Mrs. Ida Mae Owens, owners of an eighth royalty in the well, were awarded $57,000.

New Markets Urged As Answer Farm Problems

By Dr. Harry E. Barnard

By CHARLTON GUNTER

Development of new markets outside the normal food outlets is the answer to the American farm problem according to Dr. Harry E. Barnard, director of research for the Farm Chemurgic Council of Dearborn, Mich., and principal speaker at the Wednesday morning session of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce Soy Bean Conference held in the auditorium of the First Baptist church.

A capacity crowd greeted the speakers at the conference session following the overflow reception of the soy bean dinner held in the Navarro Hotel on Tuesday evening.

A. G. (Pat) Mayse, president of the regional organization, presided, and declared that the chamber was gratified at the expression of interest. He said that as far as the organization was concerned, the rank and file of its membership was not made up of farmers, nor of men who made a pretense of being farmers, but as business men they realized the soundness of creating new sources of wealth.

"From what we know, soy bean cultivation will be a slow and gradual process, and not a get-rich-quick scheme," Mr. Mayse said, adding that it was known in other sections to be an excellent soil builder and reasonably profitable.

He then presented H. A. York, plant breeder from the Delta Experiment Station, at Stoneville, Miss., on the subject of "Soybeans in the South." The speaker pointed out that the cultivation of soy beans was practical, required no special labor or machinery, enjoyed unusual freedom from insects and disease, and had other numerous recommending characteristics.

Native Asiatics. Dr. York pointed out that the bean was a native Asiatic that had long been recognized as containing all of the vitamins necessary for the human race, and was first introduced into the United States about 1829. He declared that it was one of the most valuable of soil building crops, and that at present more than 800 varieties of the bean were known to be in existence.

He reported that the beans had shown themselves adaptable to most sections of the country, and required the same general conditions as corn and cotton, and could be produced on lands too alkaline for alfalfa. The beans were reported strong in germination, good seed producers, and provided good forage. They were also reported to be of high value as soil builders, particularly in supplying humus and nitrogen.

Plant Early As Corn. The breeder reported that soy beans could be planted as early as it was safe to plant corn, for the plants could stand an equal amount of frost, and should be planted earlier than cotton; full stands were reported necessary and good crops could be secured either from planting in rows or broadcast. He reported that comparison of soil types led him to believe that the beans could be grown successfully in the eastern part of Texas. He presented production figures on several varieties compiled by his experiment station which showed yields ranging from 10 to 25 bushels per acre over a 5 year period.

He acknowledged a definite place for the beans in the farm program of the south, with the realization that often they would be in competition at the present time with cottonseed oil and other cotton oil products, but intelligently used could aid the farmer. He reported that several varieties were known as edibles and were suited for garden crops. Dr. E. B. Reynolds of the Texas Experiment Stations, led the discussion of the paper, after congratulating the regional chamber on its move, declaring it to be the most constructive in a long time.

Comparison of Yield. He presented a comparison of the yields per acre by states, reporting that Texas yields were not sufficient to tabulate in recent years. He then presented results of experiments at Texas stations which showed Tyler and that section of the state to be the most promising field for the crop. Good forage crops were reported in the coastal regions, but the bean crop was often a failure. Very low yields were reported from West Texas tests.

Dr. Reynolds stated that the reports proved the regional adaptation of the crop, and recommended that the beans be grown as a cash crop, and for soil building. He indicated that he believed they could be successfully grown in the eastern and northeastern sections of the state, but stated that there was a distinct need for more information in Texas on proper cultivation and for more complete general knowledge, and suggested caution on extensive plantings.

An active question period followed, with the fact being developed that the soy beans had about equal soil building power as cowpeas with greater market for the crop.

Curtis Morris, assistant manager of the regional organization made series of announcements at this point in the meeting concerning a photograph to be taken after the session, and the afternoon program.

The presiding officer then introduced Dr. Harry A. Barnard, of Dearborn, Mich.

Industrial Uses. Dr. Barnard said in his introduction that he had come to Texas to tell the farmers how to grow beans because he was not familiar with that work, but he was acquainted with the industrial uses of the amazing, unbelievable bean which he recounted having watched last week in Michigan where the blade of the mower was underneath the blanket of snow covering the fields. He reported extensive cultivation of the beans in Iowa, Illinois and Michigan, and reported that this year Henry Ford, a

PARIS PUBLISHER MAIN SPEAKER AT SOY BEAN DINNER

UNIQUE MEAL ATTENDED BY REPRESENTATIVES FROM EVERY SECTION STATE

"No one else will do what we should do," was the challenge thrown out to a capacity audience Tuesday night by A. G. (Pat) Mayse, president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, as he concluded his keynote address "New Sources of Wealth," opening the two-day soybean conference in Corsicana.

The soy bean dinner opening the conference was served to a capacity of approximately 1000, with hundreds of representatives of all parts of Texas with delegates from several other states included. Original preparations had been made to handle places and even with the augmented capacity, local officials reported that more than fifty reservations were rejected, and all local persons surrounded the hotel to witness the feast.

C. C. Roberts, past president of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce and now a director of the regional chamber, presided as toastmaster of the evening. The program was announced by Dr. Don L. Wharton, pastor of the First Baptist church of Longview.

Soy Bean Menu. At the beginning of the dinner, Dr. Jethro Kloss, noted chemist and research worker, was presented to explain the various items appearing on the menu. All of the dishes were prepared under Dr. Kloss' supervision from products which he himself had derived from soy beans. Wonder and laughter were mixed as the dinner program, and the veteran chemist explained the composition of the various dishes and their special qualities, often illustrating his explanations with humorous incidents from his experience.

Opening the dinner was a hot soy-tomato cocktail, and other dishes included buttermilk, bread, butter, cottage cheese, yellow cheese, sprouted soy beans, two kinds of roasts, spaghetti, coffee cream and cake—all utilizing soy bean ingredients.

At this point a number of the visitors were introduced including Dr. A. G. (Pat) Mayse, president of the regional chamber, and Dr. H. A. York, Delta Experiment Station, Stoneville, Miss.; E. B. Burgess, former Corsicana resident, from Shreveport, La.; F. M. Witherspoon of Shreveport; Dr. S. Hedges, College Station; Victor Schoffmeyer, Dallas; S. M. Harmon, president of the National Cottonseed Crushers Association; Dick Haughton of Dallas; Prof. Osborne of Oklahoma A. and M. College; A. L. Ward, educational director of the National Cottonseed Crushers Association; J. I. Morgan, president of the state seed products association, and L. E. Robinson, agricultural agent of the L. & A. Railway Company, and others.

Resuming the program, the toastmaster asserted that it was the most delicious meal that he had ever eaten that he didn't know anything about. He then presented Mr. Mayse as the "key-note."

Compliments Corsicana. In his introduction, Mr. Mayse said that several times in the past he had been able to make talks about soy beans because he knew as much about them as anyone in his audience, but with such authorities as had been gathered for this session, he would have to change his tactics. He said that the regional chamber was glad to come to Corsicana, one of the most progressive cities in the state.

Turning to his selected subject, "New Sources of Wealth," the regional chamber president stated that soy beans were one of them. He recalled a former meeting held at Conroe at which Dr. Kloss of the Health Food Products Manufacturing Company of Houston had served a number of soy dishes and had outlined the possibilities of the beans as a diet. He declared that while the scientist's remarks had sounded far-fetched at that time, the dinner served Tuesday night made good his every statement.

The speaker predicted that the time was not too far away when the daily diet of Texans would include many of the soy bean products, and admitted that only the surface of the possibilities had been scratched.

He recalled the first conference held last year at Clarksville, and pointed out that this year Red River county had planted about 5,000 acres as an experiment and had produced about 1,000 bushels. He stated that the crop was new, and that Texans were gradually learning about it, insisting that it was not a "cure-all" but as an additional crop was interesting. He declared the conference had gathered more men of authority on soy beans than had ever been presented on a single program in the state.

New Sources of Wealth. Turning to other new sources of wealth, he stated that the regional chamber was vitally interested in the experiment with Tung oil trees, hemp and other new crops believed adapted to this state. He pointed to the development of rose culture in Smith county as an example of the possibilities confronting Texans. He said the chamber was glad to have aided in the development of the all of the richness stored in the ages in the earth, and with no limit to its resources.

Afternoon Session. After the noon recess, the visitors heard an address on "Crushing of Soy Beans with Present Cottonseed Equipment" by J. I. Morgan, president of the National Cottonseed Products Association from Farmville, North Carolina; this was followed by an address by L. E. Robinson, agricultural agent of the L. & A. Railway company, on "Present Experiments with Soybeans in the Farm Program in Texas and Louisiana." After the final informal discussion of the facts developed during the conference, the meeting was adjourned about 3 p. m.

A comprehensive picture of the possibilities of the soy bean as a food source and as a vital factor in industry is presented in the displays arranged in the lobby of the Navarro Hotel in connection with the two-day conference sponsored by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Included in the foods group were samples of macaroni and spaghetti made from soy beans, a cereal coffee composed principally of the beans, various kinds of meat substitutes made from the pulp of the bean with some of its oil content added, meat flake, and a concentrated flake which closely resembled in taste some of the popular breakfast foods.

In addition there are displays of raw oil, varnish, heavy body oil, concentrated soap, and soap of the usual variety.

One exhibit takes the beans in their natural state, and traces the history of the bean from the harvesting both from the oil and from the cake. On the oils division there are greatest rose-growing sections of the United States.

Mr. Mayse declared that one of the best possibilities was the manufacture of newspaper and its by-products from Texas pine, and referred to the experimental work done by Dr. Charles A. Hertig, which had proven that pine was as good as spruce for the manufacture of paper and cost less money. He stated that paper could be made from pines 11 years old that compared with spruce trees 50 to 75 years old.

Asserting that the next age had been that of the electrical engineer, the speaker asserted that the next would be that of the chemist. He predicted that Texas would soon have a paper mill, would soon have a paper mill, and that the state contained twenty million acres of suitable timber.

Mr. Mayse declared that Texas did not have the capital to venture out and exploit its own manufacturing resources, calling attention to the fact that within the bounds of the regional organization which includes 70 counties, there was half the population of the state, and 70 per cent of the resources. He remarked that while Northern bankers could invest $400,000,000 in the development of Canadian sugar, that it was difficult to raise the $100,000,000 or six millions needed to inaugurate the newspaper industry in Texas.

Paper Mills in Texas. He predicted that within a short time the production of a paper mill established in Texas, and that the beginning of its operations would mark the inaugural of the great industrial era in the history of the state. He remarked that while Texas was celebrating its centennial this year a hundred years was young for a state, and that the greater part of the history of the region was ahead, and the opportunities of today were equal to those found by the pioneer settlers.

Mr. Mayse said that he and his organization felt the responsibility of the future of the state, but predicted they would make progress in spite of many mistakes. He expressed a hope for the day to come when Texans would cease to be interested alone in the exchange of the wealth already in existence, and turn their attention to the development of new wealth and new resources.

"No one else will do what we ourselves should do," the speaker concluded after expressing his regret at the inability of the organization to estimate the crowd and make suitable arrangements, declaring that it was a good day when folks could quit their business long enough to study the common problem of the creation of new wealth.

H. H. Williamson, director of the Texas A. and M. College extension service, was presented to lead the discussion of the keynote speech, but announced that the speech could stand for itself without comment. He remarked that it was the first time he had "been beamed and enjoyed it."

Possibilities Nearly Scratched. He joined in the conclusion that the possibilities of soy beans had merely been scratched, and congratulated the regional chamber on its thoughtfulness in arranging the conferences for studying the problems of the future which had the opportunities of changing the future economics set-up. He recalled impressions gained from former conferences, and announced that two outstanding speakers would be presented at the annual farmers short course beginning July 20.

The extension director said that he would recommend that the farmers of the state not go into soy bean culture on a large scale at first but to plant small tracts of an acre or two in order to learn their culture and possibilities. He pointed out that the beans were good for people, cattle, and for hungry stock, and that his county agents would be glad to co-operate in every possible manner.

M. E. Glenn, president and organizer of the Health Food Products Manufacturing Company, of Houston, was introduced and given a rousing vote of thanks for the dinner which he presented to the visitors Tuesday night. After a brief announcement concerning the program for Wednesday, Toastmaster Roberts extended a word of welcome to the many visitors in behalf of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, and all of the interests co-operating in the conference.
